Crash caused local stress, experts to assist residents

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

In an effort to help local residents dealing with the aftermath of the crash of Northwest Airlines Flight 255 two weeks ago, the City of Romulus will host a group of professional counselors at a 7:30 meeting tonight in city hall.

According to Margaret Leduc, director of the office of Emergency Preparedness, the effect of the crash on many residents will not be easy to deal with, or to forget.

The Hegira Group, which is funded by the county, is well versed in such situations having recently offered assistance to the city of Inkster when three of their police officers were slain in the line of duty.

"We want to invite anybody and everybody to come and talk and talk about their experience with the crash. These professional counselors will conduct a forum for discussion," said Leduc.

Leduc arrived on the scene shortly after the crash. All family members of the passengers on the flight were directed to her for instructions and information at that point. By early morning, she admitted she was emotionally and physically worn.

"This may have been the second worst crash in aviation history, but Romulus residents are still lucky. Just a few hundred feet either way, and the plane could have struck a gas station, several fuel tanks or a residential area."

"This may have been the second worst crash in aviation history, but Romulus residents are still lucky. Just a few hundred feet either way, and the plane could have struck a gas station, several fuel tanks or a residential area. We could have been fighting that fire for days. As a city we are fortunate. But it's so sad," she said.

Leduc said she has talked with many people throughout the community, but none are as apprehensive as those residents in the area just north of the freeway and the crash site.

The trauma is not limited to children, but adults too are visibly disturbed. "A lot of fireman live in the area. They responded right away. The situation is similar to when people have been involved in war. They don't talk about it. They'll talk with their buddies, but not the general public. They may not know how to express those feelings. The thing we have to remember, the world shouldn't focus on the feelings of a few individuals," Leduc said.

Romulus Fire Chief William Greenslait said, "The men are going on. They're handling it well. It was a job to them."

"Hegira is a debriefing service where people are encouraged to talk about the incident and how it affects you personally. The concept helps people understand and put things into perspective. So that they know things happen and you can get on with your life," Leduc said.

Talking and sharing will work the problem out, she stressed.

Meeting of the minds

Candidates kick-off campaign

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

The main item of interest at the recent Meet the Candidates Night in Romulus was the apparent lack of voter interest.

Moderator and local businessman, Bill Crane, commented on the small audience attending the meeting, noting that there were "no big issues." Many candidates and members of the attending audience, however, were overwhelmed at the apparent apathy among Romulus residents.

One candidate said, "It's unfortunate. Apathy is a disease around the country. People tend to only think about their neighborhood and not their city."

Another candidate suggested the reason is, "This is a friendly race."

Whatever the reason, consensus among the approximately 100 people who attended the forum proved successful. It offered candidates and citizens a chance to express their concerns and attitudes. Old ideas were reviewed and new ones presented.

The evening was sponsored by the Romulus Roman of the Associated Newspapers chain as a forum where each of the 15 candidates running for the seven city council seats would have an opportunity to express their views on a variety of issues important to Romulus.

And because more than twice the number of people are fighting for the seven council seats, by state law, a primary must be conducted. On September 15, voters will decide which candidate will not be in the race, as the name of the person with the least votes will be withdrawn from the ballot. The general election is November 3.

Only three candidates did not attend "Meet the Candidate Night." They are Ronald Dubs-

However, those who did attend, Mary Ann Banks, Barry Baumann, Pete Bergeron, Kristine DeTroyer, Judi Ellis, Randolph Gear, Alan Lambert, Ellis Pennington, Jimmie Raspberry, William Wadsworth, Eva Webb and Michael Woods, offered much insight into the present state of the city of Romulus.

Among this distinguished group of candidates are found a majority of life long residents, a handful of college graduates and at least one with a master's degree. Many are well respected in their chosen careers. Others have established a name for themselves in their neighborhood, church and school. There are parents, grandparents and a great-grandparent.

Significant among the candidates are four women and four blacks. Currently only one woman sits on the council and there are no blacks. According to the last census, 20 percent of the almost 25,000 city residents are black.

The forum was moderated by Crane and a panel comprised of four individuals involved in the community including, Jason Lovette, Economic Development Authority member, Dan Bales, school board member, Theresa Washington, Tax Increment Financing Authority chairperson and Bob Denys, Romulus Roman reporter.

The forum consisted of four basis segments: opening remarks with a short biography of the candidates, questions from the panelists, questions from the audience and closing remarks.

Candidates must be commended for limiting their remarks to the allotted time, as the forum ended almost on schedule, shortly after 9 p.m. It started at 7 p.m.

Among the issues addressed by panelists and audience were the airport, crime, youth, drugs, development, schools, neighborhoods, the Tax Increment Financing Authority and the poor condition of Wayne Road.

Bill Crane

Highlights of the evening and significant remarks by the candidates were plentiful.

• Wadsworth, an incumbent, would like to see 12-15 more police officers on the force and believes they should not be required to reside in the city.

• Baumann, an incumbent, wants development with a purpose, "not just development." "It's time for a people payoff," he said. One of his most often asked questions is "Will Wayne Road ever be modernized and widened?" He wants to upgrade the image of Romulus and sees the next few years as crucial.

Drugs score no points for athletes

The Romulus Summer Drug Awareness Program ended Saturday and left several local youngsters with smiles on their faces. The program, "Say Yes to Basketball, Say No to Drugs," was a success, according to coordinator Chris Mosler. Among the winners of the championship games were Jim Vasser, William Hester, Jerry Long, Maurice Bridges and Robert Clark. ANP photo by Bob Denys

No more money

City offers home rehabilitation to residents

Romulus residents have the opportunity to upgrade their homes for free or little charge and according to the city housing specialist, John Said, "They're not taking advantage of it."

So while $50,000 worth of federal block grant money sits in a local bank, Said scouts the area in search of residents who qualify for the program.

"The Housing Rehabilitation Program is offered by the city of Romulus for Romulus citizens. The program is easy to understand and can help with needed repairs around your home," Said explained.

Citizens of all ages are eligible, according to program guidelines. You must be the owner and occupant of a home in Romulus.

There are some income restrictions. Complete financing assistance is offered to low income single people with an annual income of $12,450 or less or families of four who have an income of less than $17,750. Moderate income individuals such as single people with an annual income of $19,900 or a family of four whose income does not exceed $28,400 also qualify for 50 percent financing assistance.

"The program is more lenient than people realize. It aims to improve and upgrade the housing stock in Romulus and to make local homes safe, decent and sanitary," Said said.

The amount of money available to each home owner is limited to $7,000 for the standard rehabilitation. One thousand dollars can be added for weatherization.

Some possible home improvements covered by the program are: leaking roofs, broken windows, fire hazards, ill-fitting doors, sagging foundations, bathroom leaks, inoperable toilets, sewers, sinks, hot water heaters, furnaces, gas lines and faulty wiring.

"The program is designed to eliminate existing problems. Home improvements and decorations are not eligible," he said.

For information about the program call John Said at 942-7592.

ROMULUS ADULT HIGH School will accept registration from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Monday through Friday. Evening registration will be conducted from 6 to 8 p.m., Tuesday through Thursday, Sept. 8 to 11 and Monday through Thursday, Sept. 14 to 18. Classes begin Monday, Sept. 21.

A child care center for children of students will be available this year and scheduled to open Oct. 1. Fees will be determined later this month.

The newly created and free health care aide program will offer Graduation Equivalent Diploma preparation, health care training and job placement. Courses in culinary arts, welding, small engine repair, cosmetology and nail technology are also offered. For information about the program, call 941-0610.

A BASEBALL GAME between members of the Romulus Fire Department and the Police Department has been scheduled for 4 p.m., Saturday, Sept. 12, in Elmer Johnson Park on Ozga Road, south of Wick Road. And because the police department usually wins, according to Recreation Department Director Debbie Dick, the fire department will challenge police officers to a fast game of water ball.

ROMULUS SENIOR CITIZENS will travel to Shipshewana, Indiana and visit Amish country from 8 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. on September 30. The tour includes transportation on a luxury coach, dinner at the Amish Country Kitchen, the Shipshewana flea market and watch Amish cheesemakers at work. And $39. is all this costs. For information or reservations, call Marilyn Masters at 942-6852.

A BOWLING LEAGUE for Romulus senior citizens is about to begin. However, more bowlers are needed. Enjoy this fun sport, said Marilyn Masters, director of the Romulus Senior Center. For information call 942-6852.

HORSESHOE AND VOLLEYBALL leagues will be conducted for participants in the Sports Programs for Retirees, a non-profit organization designed for people over the age of 55. Horseshoe pitching will be offered at 1 p.m. on Thursdays beginning Sept. 17 thru Oct. 29 at Elmer Johnson Park on Ozga Road, south of Wick Road in Romulus. Registration fee is $13 which includes program membership. Volleyball games will be conducted beginning with three weeks of practice on Tuesday, Sept. 15. The league will play from Oct. 6 thru Dec. 8 at the Dearborn Civic Center on Michigan Ave., west of Greenfield Road in Dearborn. For information about either sport, call 277-1085.

THE HUNTERS SAFETY program offered by the Romulus Police Department will be conducted from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 12 and 13. Squirrel season opens on Sept. 15. The course is aimed at young people between the ages of 12 and 18 years old. State law requires all first time hunters to complete the course. The course is free and lunch will be served. Pre-registration is required and only the first 25 applicants will be accepted. Forms are available at the police station on Olive Street. The program is sponsored by the Romulus Police Department, the Wayne County Coon Hunters Club, the Romulus Police Officers Association and the Romulus Command Officers Association. For information call 941-8400.

ANOTHER ARMED ROBBERY marred an otherwise uneventful Romulus weekend at a gas station on the corner of Wayne and Goddard roads early Sunday morning. At 2:45 a.m., a lone male walked up the attendant, according to Romulus Police Detective Ken Kraus, and asked for a bottle of pop. When the employee turned to get it, the suspect indicated he had a weapon, which was not seen. He demanded the money and fled on foot. The employee was not injured.

THE RAMADA INN of Romulus will sponsor a two day benefit called "Party Under the Stars" from 6 p.m. to 1 p.m. this Saturday and Sunday, Sept. 5 and 6. Tickets will cost $10 for this outdoor tent party with all proceeds going to the families of the three slain Inkster officers. The musical group, Teen Angels, will perform on both days. Tickets are available at the Inkster Police Station and at the Ramada Inn on Wickham Road, north of the I-94 freeway. For information call Cheryl Curley at 729-6300.

Candidates

- Lambert, an incumbent, would like to see a shopping center and more police officers. He is in favor of tax abatements as a method of retaining business in the city.

- Pennington, an incumbent, said he's seen the city grow by leaps and bounds. He said, he can't make any promises, he'll continue to do the best he can. He would like to see a hotel tax in the city and convert South Junior High School into a recreation facility.

- Banks, an incumbent, stressed that everything is a major issue to her, especially as it relates to the overall good of the city.

- Gear said he is not happy with airport expansion and has talked with many people who agree with him. He said, citizens feel out of touch with elected officials and misrepresented by them. He feels that some type of recreation facility for the area youth is necessary to keep them out of trouble. He would like to see more involvement by parents and teachers.

- Raspberry feels the key to city survival is "diversification" and maintaining employment.

- DeTroyer said the city, both government and education should serve as a unit. She emphasized that parents should be accountable for their children. She would like to see the city become a convention center and stimulate more city business.

- Woods would like to see the friction between the city and the schools erased. He proposed a committee comprised of leaders from areas to review issues. He said, "We don't have to have a junky, trashy city."

as he proposed an increased focus on city neighborhoods.

- Bergeron, an incumbent, said the fire department is the least expensive city department to operate, but the most effective. "We do not need a full-time fire department at this time," he said.

- Webb would support a mileage for increased police protection. She said there must be a better way to get information out to the people and that no one person or thing can do it. She was suggesting more involvement by elected officials in their community.

- Ellis said she was concerned with youth and neighborhoods and because this is where many problems arise, this is where they can be cured. She said parents and neighbors must work together. She said she sees Romulus growing in a positive direction and would like to be part of that growth.

So would 14 other political candidates. The race is on.

CITY OF ROMULUS CHAPTER IV ARTICLE 1.81

AN ORDINANCE TO AMEND CHAPTER IV, ARTICLE 1, THE ZONING ORDINANCE OF THE CITY OF ROMULUS BY AMENDING SECTION 14.02 PERMIT DRIVE-IN OR DRIVE-THRU RESTAURANTS AS A SPECIAL APPROVAL LAND USE.

THE CITY OF ROMULUS ORDAINS:

SECTION 1 SHORT TITLE: AMENDED ZONING ORDINANCE
SECTION 2 Amend Chapter IV, Article 1, by adding a new Section 14.03 F to read as follows:

SECTION 3 Section 14.03F Drive-Thru eating and drinking establishments, subject to the following regulations:

1. Points of ingress and egress will not be located less than one hundred (100) feet from the intersection of any two (2) streets.
2. The site will be adjacent to a major or secondary thoroughfare, and all points of ingress and egress will be directly onto said thoroughfare or onto a commercial or industrial street or service drive.
3. Lighting will be directed away from adjacent residential areas or to prevent direct glare onto adjacent thoroughfares.
4. This facility shall be designed for drive-thru pick up service rather than a car hop service. Consumption of food on the premises in other than the dining area or patio shall be prohibited.
5. Adequate waiting or standing areas for vehicles shall be provided on-site so that no vehicle is required to wait, stand, or be stored within a right-of-way. See Section 6.05.
6. Within the front or side yard adjacent to any street, there shall be a landscaped planting area of not less than fifteen (15) feet in width which shall meet the standards of Section 4.33.
7. A wall and/or greenbelt meeting the standards of Section 4.16 shall be provided along any property line which abuts any residential use.

SECTION 4 PENALTY: Any person, firm, association, partnership, or corporation violating any of the terms of this Ordinance shall be subject to a fine of not more than Five Hundred ($500.00) dollars or to imprisonment for not to exceed Ninety (90) days or both such fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the Court.

SECTION 5 SEVERABILITY: If any provision of this ordinance is found by a Court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid or unconstitutional, or if the application of this Ordinance to any person or circumstances is found to be invalid or unconstitutional, such invalidity or unconstitutionality shall not affect the other provisions or applications of this Ordinance which can be given effect without the invalid or unconstitutional provision or application.

SECTION 6 REPEALER: All ordinances or parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed only to the extent necessary to give this ordinance full force and effect.

SECTION 7 EFFECTIVE DATE: This Ordinance shall become effective immediately upon publication in the official newspaper as required by City Charter.

I, Linda R. Choate, Clerk for the City of Romulus do hereby certify the foregoing to be a true copy of an Ordinance duly adopted by the City Council of the City of Romulus at their regular meeting held on the 10th day of August, 1987.

Linda R. Choate, Clerk
City of Romulus

ATTEST: Beverly McAnally, Mayor

Within forty-five (45) days after the publication of any ordinance duly passed by the Council, a petition may be presented to Council protesting against such ordinance continuing in effect. Said petition shall contain the text of such ordinance and shall be signed by not less than Six (6%) percent of the registered electors registered at the last preceding election at which a Mayor of the City was elected. Said Ordinance shall thereupon and thereby be suspended from operation and the Council shall immediately reconsider such ordinance.

INKSTER GOLDEN

The Golden Mile

City set for weekend of excitement

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

It became a project to bring people into the city. Something that the city folks would be proud of.

It was to be Inkster's Golden Mile Festival - climaxing a summer of which marigolds were planted on a stretch of Michigan Avenue, islands from John Daly to Middlebelt.

The plans didn't change when three Inkster police officers were murdered on July 9th at the Bungalow Motel.

But, the goal of the festival did.

The festival's purpose, according to its master planner, John Glasnak, is to raise funds for a permanent monument for the slain officers: Sgt. Ira Parker, officers Daniel Dubiel and Clay Hoover.

"We believe it is fitting and proper that we do this," said John Glasnak, president of the newly-created Inkster Tourist Association, whose work brought the idea to reality. "We are a great city and we have some wonderful people residing here, and we want to show the world that Inkster is a place we are all proud to live in."

A three-day festival, which begins with 'the circus coming to town', on Saturday, Sept. 5. There will be entertainment, dancing and good food during the festivities that will be staged at several sites in the city.

Saturday is circus day and there will be two performances in the "Big Top" erected at the Michigan Ave. and Inkster Road site. The shows are at 2 and 5:30 p.m.

However, Opening Day ceremonies will take place at noon to 1 p.m. on a stage constructed in front of the Inkster Ice Arena. After a few welcoming words from Glasnak and Mayor Betty Miller, there will be continuous programs on stage.

The programs include Inkster High's school band, an amateur talent show, Juvenile R & B Jazz Band, Michael Boone, vocalist with a Michael Jackson sound. There will be organ music by George Woodrow and vocals by Faith Meadows.

And, between 2 to 3 p.m., a team of Inkster police officers will prove that they can beat an elephant in a tug-of-war contest (but don't bet on it). They have even threatened to "pull the elephant out of the tent by its tail."

"There are many noted entertainers who have devoted their time and talents to help make this a successful festival," Glasnak stressed.

Glasnak said he and his committee, made up of Sherry His-song, Jerry Massey, Faith Meadows, Elicia Baker, Connie Baker, Abdul Hasoa, Jerry Carnegie, Elaine Kauke and Bill Kauke put the programs together in hopes "that there would be something for everyone - child, teen and adult - to enjoy."

Among those who have contributed to the success of the festival include: Howard and Sherry of Gabbert's Hospitality House; Michael Glasnak, Inkster Tourist Association, George Woodrow, Aran Patel, Lotta Keslicker, Sandra Barrow, Joyce Edgington, Bob Edgington, Francesco Bridegam, The Explorers, Mayor Betty Miller, City Manager Gregory Knowles.

Glasnak also said that without the cooperation and help of Police Chief Buckley, Karen Szymula, director of information for the city of Inkster, Victor Bollenger, Lillian Randolph, John Bloodworth, the festival would never have gotten off the ground.

Other contributors included the Inkster Chamber of Commerce; Charles Chase, president; Mr. F Beef & Bourbon, Danny's Foods, Mayor Guido of the City of Dearborn who donated the stage and sound equipment, Wally Jackson, The Associated Newspapers and publisher David Willett, Dennis Williams, advertising sales representative for the Inkster Ledger Star and Anderson Young.

Others who help bring the festival to the city include: Commissioner Kay Beard, David Keith, Carron & Company and Dearborn Manufacturing Company.

Getting ready

'The Golden Mile' comes off the drawing board and becomes reality this weekend as Inkster hosts the first festival. Among the gala activities are the Kelly-Brothers Circus which will set up the "Big Tent" on Michigan Avenue and Inkster Road and there will be live entertainment provided by guest artists. The fun begins on Sept. 5 and will continue through Labor Day, Monday, Sept. 7. The festival, the brainchild of John Glasnak, president of the Inkster Tourist Association, was originally organized as a community-family outing, but the civic leaders and officials decided to turn it into a fundraiser for the slain Inkster Police officers who were killed at the Bungalow Motel on July 9. The proceeds will go to erect a permanent monument for Sgt. Ira Parker, officers Daniel Dubiel and Clay Hoover. ANP photo by Mike Cardew. Staff photographer

The answer is maybe

Will our readers soon be seeing advertisements for condoms on the pages of Associated Newspapers? That was one of the questions recently asked at a meeting of publishers and editors from across the state who gathered to discuss such topics at a convention.

The controversy was prompted by an inquiry from a major advertising agency which is considering the use of local weekly newspapers to promote the sale and, we expect, use of the product. Of the two or three dozen newspaper operators who discussed the topic, it seemed somewhat strange that those in ethnic areas seemed the most concerned with the negative impact of such advertising.

Karen Spang, publisher and owner of the Hamtramck Citizen, told the group that in an effort to discover how her community leaders would feel about such advertising in her publication, she had called a local Catholic priest and asked for his reaction.

According to Karen, he threatened to "preach her right out of business from the pulpit" if she ever permitted such advertising to appear in the community newspaper.

The discussion continued for some time, with the majority of operators becoming bogged down in a philosophical discussion of the religious rights of groups, the tastefulness of the advertising and the implicit language which they would or would not tolerate.

The position of Associated Newspapers on the matter has not changed. We review all advertising which appears on our pages. We reserve the right to refuse advertising copy or artwork which we find objectionable and to edit advertising copy and letters to the editor to fit our standards of acceptability.

What we do not do is act as a censor. We also do not make endorsements anywhere but here, on this page, in this spot. Because you see an advertisement on our pages for a store which sells guns, it does not mean that we endorse guns, the use of them or the sale of same. It also does not mean that we criticize firearms in any way. What it means is that we are doing our job.

Our job is to bring you the news of your community. If a local businessman has a sale on a certain item, it is part of the job we perform to provide our readers with that information, as it is our job to publish the legal minutes of local governmental meetings. Yes, we get paid for it. That's our business.

Newspapers are unlike any other business. We have a specific and well prescribed duty to our communities and to our readers and to shirk that to any degree is a betrayal of what should be regarded as a sacred trust.

We provide information. We provide it not only editorially in articles, opinions, columns and pictures, but with advertising and public service announcements. We should be our readers' conduit to the community and we will not be less.

It is impossible to legislate morality, and to many, birth control is a moral issue. But AIDS falls from the category of morality when the disease begins killing people. Presently, there are 36 cases of AIDS on record in the state of Michigan. That may not seem like many—but the potential for an epidemic of death and pain is there.

We cannot and will not hide that from you. If there is a means of saving lives available to you, and it is needed, we will bring you that information. If that information is that the use of condoms prevents the transmittal of sexual disease and that condoms are available locally, we owe you that information, too.

But it will be presented in a manner befitting your local, family newspaper. And it will not be done in a manner which would imply that your newspaper endorses or condemns the use of such a product.

It will be provided to you as a matter of information.

That's our job.

A friendly 'paws'

We either love them or hate them, but most of us have a strong opinion about them. There are those who gush enthusiastically and wax nostalgic constantly about theirs, and others who wouldn't have one in their home.

The topic which usually draws such a mixed reaction is animals, specifically the furry friends many of us have as pets. Lately I've observed a strong similarity of opinion regarding children. As with our regard for animals, people seem to have the same type of likes and dislikes about little people. Others far more knowledgeable than I could certainly explain the psychological significance of these opinions. I am merely an observer of this phenomenon.

For some, pets seem to be child substitutes. Those who loved their children, and miss them when they leave home, then rely on the love and affection of a pet as a companion and friend.

For those with both kids and pets under their roof, and who find it difficult to cope with either, then kicking the dog is a way of taking out the frustrations with beast and child alike.

If the children are grown and gone, often tolerance for "rearing" has exceeded the point of elasticity, and there becomes a dislike for children and animals alike.

I started contemplating such behavior again just recently, as a result of the acquisition of a furry friend, given to me by my wife as an anniversary present.

"Andrew" as I have chosen to name him, is a Himalayan kitten who has now reached the ripe old age of 12 weeks. This magnificent creature has quickly won our hearts.

Folks at the office are certainly beginning to tire of our kitten photos and stories of his frolicking adventures. Every day "Andy" has accomplished some new feat that we find worthy of describing, in great detail, to the chagrin, I'm sure, of all who are forced to listen to our stories.

I suppose it's much like listening to tales of the grandchildren of others, of how then cut their first tooth, started crawling, or said "Dada".

More objectively, I can't help but wonder if this whole matter doesn't run much deeper in the human psyche than we might first consider.

I wonder if our root feelings don't have more to do with how we deal with power and responsibility. With small children and animals, we no doubt sense that we have the power to control the outcome to a large extent of most encounters.

The needs of animals tend to be simple...food, shelter, sanitary living conditions, and some love and attention. In return they usually give us their love and devotion.

It is easy for some to feel that the lowly creatures of the earth are not worth any serious attention, worry, or concern. For some, the notion of animal rights would be a laughing matter.

Children on the other hand, according to our social mores, are to be honored, if not worshipped. Most recognize their responsibilities...some to a fault. If their children say "I need...", parents say, "is that enough?"

There are, of course, plenty of people out there in the social jungle in which we live, who demonstrate little or no respect for any manner of living thing. We read about them most every day. They kill or abuse their own children, slaughter animals for sport legally or illegally, kill or maim their fellow man with a callous disregard for the right or wrong of it all.

Alberta Easter, the youth who threw bricks at cars on the freeway, drug dealing kids on the streets of Detroit who kill others who fail in their drug delivery assignments...need any more examples of the type of individual to whom I'm referring?

When we have the power to control life, whether human or otherwise, how do we handle it? Do we consider all of God's creatures in our thoughts and concerns? Do we consider only the value of human life...or do we show an inordinate concern for lower forms of life while looking upon other humankind as not worthy of consideration?

As strange as that may sound to some, many have long since surmised that the lack of integrity, honesty, and reliability of their own species has long since rendered them less than worthy of genuine concern.

Yet the simplicity and honesty of animal life is something to be cherished, respected and admired in the estimation of many of those who have given up on the human race.

And so I go full circle. As yet, I cannot say with certainty why it is that people react to animals, or children the way they do. I cannot, however, help but marvel at the spectrum of reactions and inclinations.

As we purge our animal friends from their natural habitat in the name of "progress" driving them to extinction, as we turn over the raising of our children to government institutions, let us hope that in the end we can live with that which we cause by our action or inaction.

Recently, in one of our cities a great deal was made about the plight of a young man and his pet duck. People lined up on all sides of the question as to whose rights should take precedent.

In the end, "Daffy Duck" found a home in an adjacent city with a different code of municipal ordinances and all seems to have ended well.

The relationship between people, children and animals will continue to be a study of amusement and amazement to me. Maybe someday I'll either figure it out, or someone smarter than this hack writer will explain it. But it will take awhile, that I guarantee.

See you next week.

Clerk criticizes festival

TO THE EDITOR:

Your editorial of Monday, July 22, 1987, regarding the balloon festival failed to inform the public of the following:

It is considered inappropriate of public funds to allow tax dollars to be expended on a private money-making enterprise.

The dollars Canton township expends on the Balloon festival are not reimbursed by the Mayflower Hotel.

Canton Township ordered the printing of, pins which are purchased by the Canton taxpayers and provides free advertising for the Mayflower Hotel.

While I am not against hot air balloons, balloonists or the event to be held in Canton Township; I am against tax dollars being expended for the purpose of subsidizing a private business which is not located in Canton.

It does not seem reasonable to have armed police officers guarding the entrances of the fields where the balloonists gather for briefings. The Mayflower Hotel could hire private security officers or individuals to prohibit the citizens of the community from gathering too closely to the balloonists.

It also does not seem reasonable to me that non-profit concerns have addresssed the township board for funds which solely support the community of Canton, such as the historical society for calendars or the beautification committee for plants, and were denied the funds.

Romulus man sentenced

Michael Edward Lytle, 30, of Romulus will surrender himself to police sometime between now and Sept. 15, to begin serving a two-year prison sentence for his involvement in an international drug ring.

Julie Woods, United States

prosecuting attorney, represented the federal government during the final trial days. She said, Lytle was also fined $3,500 and was present at the sentencing in Grand Rapids Federal Court last Wednesday. His attorney has filed a motion to appeal the decision.

One year ago last August, Lytle was indicted along with eight others on drug charges. On July 31, the Federal Bureau of Investigation announced "a federal grand jury returned a 16-count indictment charging a group of nine men, most of whom are from the Holland, Michigan area, with conspiracy to distribute marijuana in excess of 1,000 pounds, and other controlled substances and other from 1975 to the present."

Although Lytle's involvement appeared less than the others according to Woods, he was charged with drug traffickking of at least 1 pound of cocaine, 20 pounds of hashish and undisclosed amounts of marijuana.

The drug ring operated under the name of the Holland Fish Market and received narcotics from the states of Texas, Kansas, Nebraska and Ohio as well as from the countries of Columbia and Mexico.

Of the nine defendants, six, including Lytle pleaded guilty before the trial. The remaining three went to trial where they were acquitted by the jury because as Woods said, they misunderstood the instructions of Judge Douglas Hillman.

Man of experience

Life has not been the same since last weekend. That was when 'He' moved in.

Our once organized and moderately calm life has changed. Now we have to watch where we step, remember to open doors slowly, and most important, we must spend an enormous amount of time going to and coming from outdoors.

One special dessert bought for 'Him' especially is a bunch of carrots. He likes them right out of the refrigerator, cold and sweet, at the rate he has gone through them, we know he will never need glasses.

The funny thing is that he made himself right at home. He's totally comfortable and set to stay. Of course that is fine with us.

Our new tenant is, as you've probably guessed, an 8-week old puppy.

All-in-all, we must have made 1,498 trips to the corner of the yard to house break him. We have lost weight, he has gained momentum. But he now knows what 'take a break' means since we have said that phrase a minimum of 3,972 times. (and that was in a 3-day period of time. It paid off, though, because he now is house broken.)

Many of our friends of relatives have stopped calling because, as they put it, we talk of nothing except, the new puppy lately. That's ok, there are plenty of people who show a genuine interest in him.

First of all, he does a lot of prancing and plopping. He's clumsy, and his ears are too big for his head. Aside from all the food he eats, he's a slob. Putting two paws into the water bowl and slurping water all over the floor isn't too swift. We suppose that's better than what he first tried, and that was to nap with his head under water.

When bubbles rose from his nose so did his head. He got the message - water for drinking and his bed for sleeping.

So all of you who call and tell me how hard it is with a new puppy in the house have nothing on us. I've heard, "Isn't he cute?" 10,000 times this week, and that makes him worth it.

Bill targets nursing home patients

There is much concern about treatment of Medicaid recipients in Michigan nursing homes. While some facilities will not admit these low income elderly people, others have been charged with admitting them in order to get the money the government pays for their care and then engaging in discriminatory practices, such as involuntary transfer and demands for additional payments, that infringe upon the residents' rights.

The State House is considering a package of bills that addresses these concerns. Under these bills, all nursing homes licensed in Michigan would have to participate in the Medicaid program, and would have to admit applicants on "first-come, first-served" basis, regardless of the source of the patient's payments. In addition, the bill package would:

Specifically outlaw "duration of stay" contract, through which an applicant must agree to stay on a "private pay" basis for a specified period of time before applying for Medicaid assistance;

Prohibit nursing homes from requiring that applicants or their families give the facility a gift, deposit or additional payments in order to be admitted; Prevent the unjustified involuntary transfer or relocation of residents who become eligible for Medicaid assistance;

Prohibit nursing homes from requiring that applicants either have a legal guardian or assign power of attorney to another person; and

Establish definite criminal and civil penalties for nursing home personnel who violate the rights of Medicaid residents.

Another bill now being considered by the State House deals with nurse aides, who perform much of the actual patient care work in most nursing homes and other long-term care facilities. The proposed law would require that nurse aides be employed only if they were licensed by the state. Licensing requirements would require greatly expanded training for the nurse aides. The bill also mandates improved staff to patient ratios in long-term care facilities.

The House is considering these bills and others that concern the treatment of the sick and elderly in our state. Every Michigan resident, regardless of age, state of health or economic resources is entitled to fair and competent treatment and the full exercise of their rights.

Arson suspected in house blaze

Canton police and fire officials are investigating the cause of a blaze which gutted an unoccupied home in the northwest section of the township early Monday morning.

The home is located in the 600 block of Ridge Road near Cherry Hill in an area characterized by large residential lots. Police are still attempting to locate the owners of the property.

"Witnesses and an officer who just happened to be in the area heard a large explosion," said Canton Police Department Spokesman Dave Boljesic.

Firefighters from nearby Superior Township had to be called on to assist local authorities. Firefighters were at the scene until 4 a.m. Monday, Boljesic said.

By Monday afternoon, there was only charred debris at the residence. The front door, which was still standing along with three of the walls of the home, was padlocked. Posted over boarded up windows were signs advertising a $2,000 reward for anyone with information about the fire listing 397-3000.

Police and fire officials estimate the blaze resulted in $30,000 to $40,000 in damages.

THE ART-ON-THE-LAKE Show took place at the Northfield Hills Condominium Association in Troy last weekend. It was the 14th annual event, featuring weavers, potters, photographers, jewelers, portrait painters, quilters, stained glass makers, graphic artists, metal sculptors and wood sculptors. About 90 artists from around the state participated in the showing, including Sandy Askew of Belleville, whose artistic media is fiber.

GARY ALLEN VINNAY JR., 2 1/2, the son of Gary Vinnay Sr. of Beverly Road in Romulus and Candy Griffin-Vinnay, also of Romulus, was one of 18 boys chosen to model in the J.C. profile Inkster, like you've never seen the city before" is how John Glasnak, president of the newly created Inkster Tourist Bureau, is describing his hometown.

Although an Inkster resident for only the past three years, Glasnak, 36, is not only positive about the city, he's downright bullish.

Glasnak is the owner of the White House Motel on Michigan Avenue (and yes, Ron and Nancy do stay there, he said.) His concerted efforts to promote the city are witnessed by any visitor in the community. And Glasnak's ideas will again be shiring on Saturday during the Golden Mile Festival.

In the spring, several city businessmen gathered during a "brainstorming" session, as Glasnak called it. Following the meeting, the "Golden Mile" of Inkster was born, and hundreds of marigolds were planted along Michigan Avenue to promote the new city image.

Next year, Glasnak intends to extend the golden border from the western city boundary at Henry Ruff Road to the eastern city boundary at Beech Daly.

The "Golden Mile Festival" is scheduled to begin at 7 a.m. Saturday, when the circus rides into town. At 8:30 a.m., just like the old days, elephants will raise the big top circus tents at the corner of Michigan Avenue and Inks-ter Road. Later in the day two shows will be conducted, one at 2 p.m. and the other at 5 p.m.

All proceeds from the circus will be donated by the festival committee to construct a monument remembering the three Inkster officers who were slain earlier this year and to establish a scholarship fund for local police officers.

"But before any real contributions can be made, tickets must be sold in advance. We receive 50 percent of the take with pre-sold tickets and only a flat 10 percent on the day of the circus. Buy your tickets ahead of time," Glas-niak stressed.

ASSOCIATED NEWSPAP-ERS: So how are things shaping up for the festival?

GLASNAK: Well, beside working 16-hour days, fantastic. We're doing great. It's going to be one nice show.

The Tourist Association is part of the Inkster Chamber of Commerce. The hotels, motels and restaurants got together and printed a brochure called the "Golden Mile." In all, 13 motels are dotted along Michigan Avenue, each with their own unique motif. We have many positive plans for the future.

The area is centrally located near Detroit and Metro Airport. We'd like to develop the Inkster Recreation Center into a conference center. We'd like to host conventions.

And with the Inkster Beautification Committee, we were thinking of how to get the community involved. And we promoted the living "Golden Mile" project to plant marigolds along Michigan Avenue.

This project generated so much excitement, we wanted to capture it and put together a festival. The city of Inkster is the only community around here that does not sponsor a festival and, to my knowledge, never has. Residents are so very deserving.

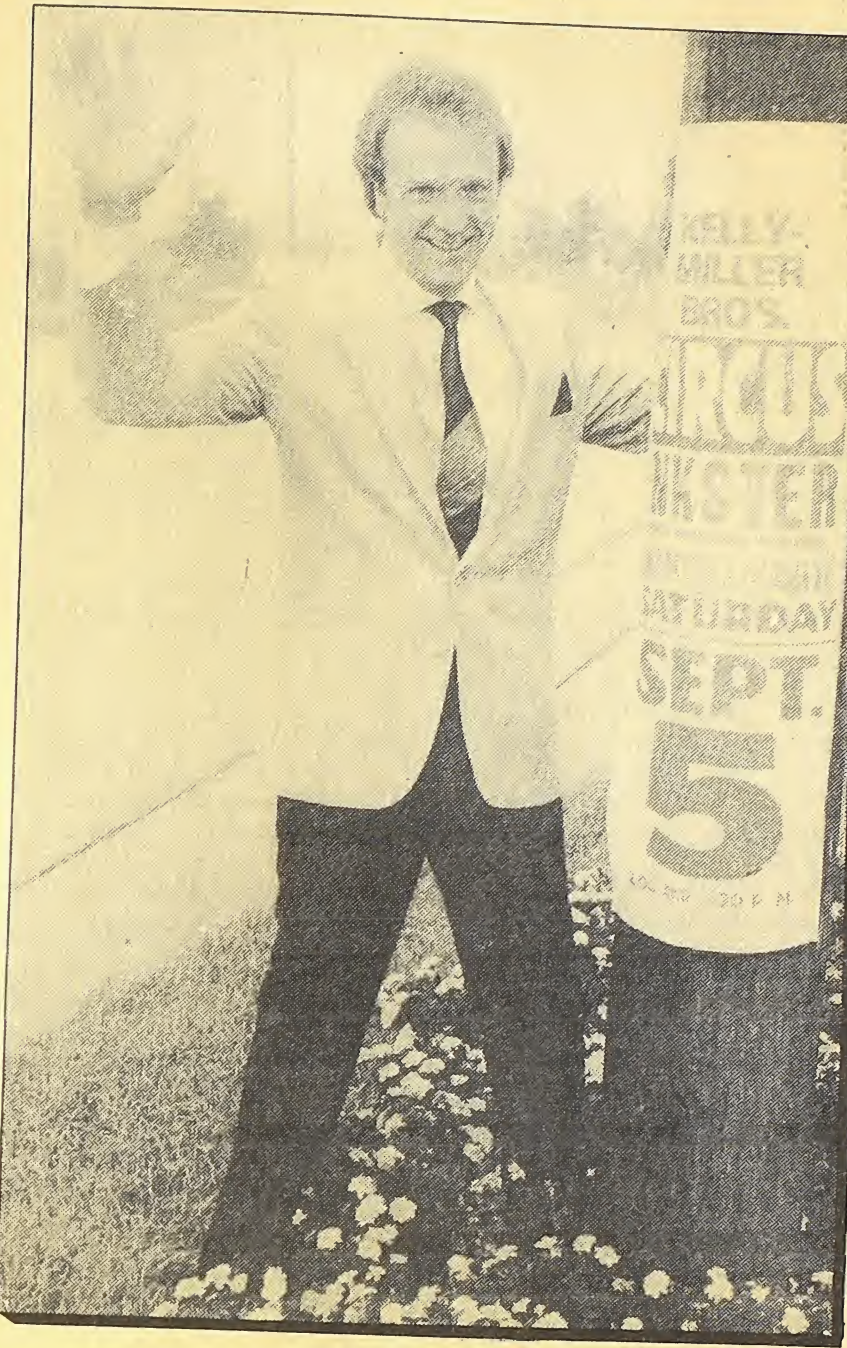

We want to showcase that pride that everyone has in the city of Inkster. Everybody, from churches to Scout troops are cooperating. City officials are fantastic. And the whole project is volunteer.

ANP: How are businesses along Michigan Avenue recuperating after the Bungalow Motel incident?

GLASNAK: The Bungalow is back in business. Of course it's a slow process. They received a lot of moral support and some financial support from many community residents and businesspeople. There was a lot of trauma. Those three officers could have been killed anywhere. Visitors and residents are very understanding about it. Business does not seem to have been affected. This was an "Anywhere, U.S.A." crime.

ANP: I understand you worked with a group called NOVA, National Organization for Victims Assistance. Could you tell us about it?

GLASNAK: The organization is based in Washington, D.C., and visits cities experiencing trauma. They are a group of counselors and psychologists who deal with traumatic events and victims of trauma. They were on the scene at Oklahoma when several people were massacred in a local post office, as well as in San Diego when many people were killed in McDonald's.

They came to Inkster to work with people involved with the Bungalow Motel incident. They were on the spot when the Northwest plane crashed last month. These were very difficult situations to be in. Many people suffer.

ANP: Tell us about the festival.

GLASNAK: The festival will be conducted in the parking lot adjacent to the Inkster Police station and the Ice Arena, north of Michigan Avenue and east of Inkster Road. Ethnic food, such as Italian, Polish, soul, Indian and American will be served. Arts and crafts will be exhibited. And the entertainment? Well, let's just say this year is going to be great. I've talked to a lot of big names and a lot of amateur talent. We'll have local country, jazz, blues, rock and roll bands and dancing everynight.

We're really focusing on entertainment for the family and for children. There will be a National Body Builders of Ladies contest and a gospel festival.

But the thing I'm concerned about now is the festival. We're going to create a positive image for Inkster and showcase Michigan Avenue, the heart of town.

Vacation boom sign of times

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

While family travelers were parking the recreational vehicle, unloading the tent and attempting to find the suitcase containing junior's bathing suit, scores of travelers were unfastening their seat belts and informing the stewardess of their drink preference.

But no matter how they traveled, bus, car, plane or family trailer, Michigan residents spent more time and money on vacations this year than ever before. According to Nancy Cain, Automobile Association of America spokesperson, 52.7 million Michigan residents went on an average of five excursions of some type and spent a record $8.7 billion during their summer travels. That is a 6 percent increase from last year, and last year was a good year, she said.

Those taking to the skies for more exotic outings were also in record numbers this year according to local travel experts.

"Summer travel has been excellent. Travel overseas increased by at least 20 percent," said Jane Watson, owner of Romulus Village Travel.

"People were flying everywhere, even here in the states. The number one spot was of course, Disney World, followed by Toronto, Canada and California. Mexico is always popular, and New York and the east coast draw big crowds," she said.

The reason for the increase in summer travel? Bev Powell, travel agent with Adventure Travel in Belleville, said the answer is simple. Money.

"People are taking advantage of all these lower air fares. Southwest Airlines offered fares as low as $19 between Chicago and Detroit. In spite of the problems with air travel, people are using planes to arrive at their destination faster and cheaper," said Powell, who has 17 years experience in the business.

Powell noted that a great many people are visiting Disney World. Train trips to Toronto and Niagara Falls are always popular.

"We don't see the longer trips," she said.

"It's not the two-week vacations anymore," agreed Watson. "People are splitting vacation time and either taking one week at a time or long weekends," she said.

Watson suggests another reason for the increase in summer travel is "pent-up desire."

"Two years ago, gas prices were high. Last year, terrorism inhibited many potential travelers. So because they didn't get there in the last few years, they are making up for it now," she stated.

Popular spots among overseas travelers are Great Britain, Ireland, France, Italy and there's renewed interest in the Scandinavian countries, the travel professionals agreed. Summer cruises are in vogue with excursions in the Caribbean and along the Alaskan coast.

Some of the more exotic destinations for local travelers have been Asia, Australia and an African safari. Couples without children most often enjoy the Hawaii or the high energy gambling and entertainment offered in Las Vegas and Atlantic City.

Closer to home, the most popular states for local travelers are Indiana, Ohio and Illinois. Twenty-eight percent of all auto travel is made to these states, Cain of AAA noted. Travelers are taking advantage of the Canadian exchange rate as a destination for 31 percent of local travelers. Michigan welcomed a substantial 33 percent of the same group of local people. Requests for information on Michigan travel was nearly triple from last year, Cain said.

"You went W H E R E?"

Vacations. We all try to keep with the Jones when telling our great tales of travel during the summer and boast of making the trek to the more exotic, unusual and untraveled paradises.

And some local residents have succeeded in their efforts.

While tales of trips to the vacation favorites - Walt Disney World, Toronto and L.A. - could dot our pages endlessly, some vacations of area folks are worth mentioning.

When was the last time you saw Europe, Hawaii, Germany and Scandanavia? Ever wanted to go?

Here's what a few of our readers have to say about their vacation fantasies . . . Can you match their stories or, better yet, tell us about an even more heavenly vacation of your own? ANP staff writers Bob Denys, Joan Dyer, Janice Fritz, Terry Jacoby and Sherry Woodard contributed to this report.

Members of the Plymouth Fife and Drum Corps.

Group makes music for a nationwide vacation

At 6 a.m. Aug. 5, a 25-car caravan left from the K-Mart parking lot on Ann Arbor Road in Plymouth. In one of those cars were Canton residents Gerry Shubnell, her husband, Ron, and two of their three children.

They were setting out on a 2,000 mile journey that would take them to Kingston, Ontario; a handful of historic sites in Massachusetts and a spectacular concert featuring the Pointer Sisters.

The journey was part of the annual trek to the east made by the Fife and Drum Corps from the Plymouth-Canton community. The group includes school-aged youngsters who don historic George Washington-like costumes and play authentic, handmade fifes and drums.

The Shubnells have been a part of the journey and the corps for six years now, Shubnell said. All of their children have been or still are members of the musical troupe.

"Every year we go east" because that is where fife and drum corps flourish and are deeply appreciated, Shubnell said.

Making the annual summer trip happen means that by January, parents of corps members have to begin mapping out an itinerary.

There is always one parent who is chosen to be the "lead car," she explained.

"He is totally in charge of how much time we have before we get to the next stop, how many miles we have to go, how long before the next rest stop, how long before we eat breakfast or lunch," Shubnell said.

So that no member of the corps caravan ever gets separated from the group or lost on the highways, each car is equipped with a Citizen's Band radio, she said.

Some of the time on the road is spent, understandably, using the CB for lively, entertaining conversation so that the miles and the hours pass faster.

After stopping first for a performance in Ontario, the Fife and Drum Corps traveled to Massachusetts, Shubnell said.

Wayne residents fulfill 'the American dream'

Mary Donohue and Anna Brown of Wayne fulfilled what is for many "the American dream."

They traveled to Hawaii.

"We really liked everything," said Donohue. "It was great - the beaches and the water. It's something you can't imagine until you see it. It was a real paradise."

Donohue and Brown were in Hawaii for one week and made their travel arrangements through a local agent.

"We left on July 15 and stayed until the 24th," said Donohue. "It was a great deal that was too good to pass up, and we were fortunate to get excellent weather."

The Wayne residents spared little expense while on the islands.

"We went on an island aerial tour, where we got an excellent view of the seven islands. We landed on four of them for ground tours," said Donohue.

"We went to a (luau), and that was like a big beach party. It was right on the beach, and they had the dancers and a guy who threw knives that were on fire." The ladies also traveled to Pearl Harbor and saw up close the spot where the worst Naval defeat in American history took place.

Donohue had only one regret about the trip.

"I really would have liked to stay longer because there is so much to do, but I will just have to go back some day."

Melinda Guerin at Stonehenge

History is relived for Westland 'team'

For history buffs, spending the summer touring the British Isles would be an ideal vacation, according to Mrs. Richard Guerin, of Westland.

Guerin and her daughter, Melinda, started their vacation by taking a two-week Scandinavian cruise. But following the cruise, they enjoyed a two-week, overland bus tour of Britain, which they said was the most exciting part of the entire trip.

"There wasn't much to do on the Scandinavian cruise, since we didn't stay in one city very long," said

Guerin. "But in England, we saw many different areas of that country, along with being able to go over to Ireland and Scotland. It was a very interesting trip. We learned a lot."

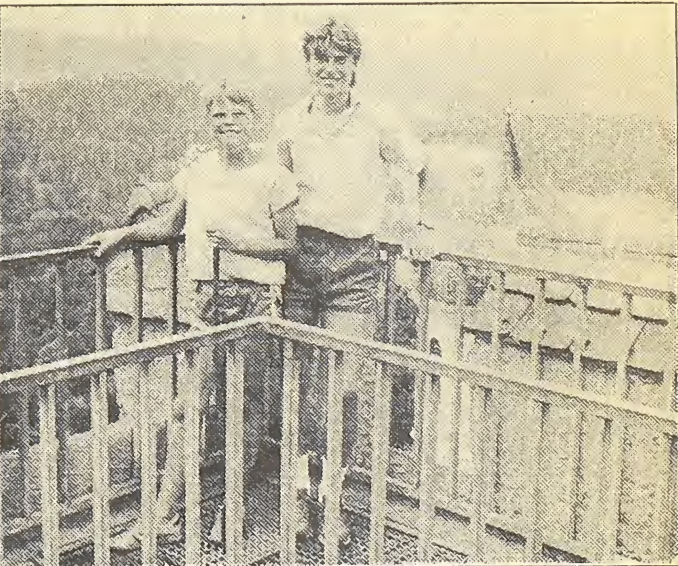

Guerin called London a "very cosmopolitan city," adding that the people there were friendly and very "upper class."

But some things about London surprised her.

"There are very few, if any, grocery stores in London. People go to several small shops to buy the various food items. If they want vegetables, they go to a greengrocer. If they want meat, they go to the butcher, and so on."

Guerin said the cost of living is considerably higher in London.

"We had breakfast in a coffee shop where we each had a roll, and I had a cup of coffee. Well, that was one expensive breakfast. The bill came to seven pounds, which is equivalent to about $11 in America," she explained.

John Pomann and his German "brother"

Belleville student uses his German education

Belleville High School junior John Pomann was one of six German language students from the Van Buren School District to visit Germany this summer.

The students, who participated in the American Association of Teachers of Germany program, lived with German families and attended classes in their host community.

John visited many of the medieval churches on sight-seeing trips around the Bavarian community of Burglengenfeld and also had an opportunity to observe both the academic and home life of German students.

"The family I stayed with had escaped from East Germany about 10 years ago. Both of the parents were doctors and lived in a very nice home that they had built themselves," John said. "Their 18-year-old daughter and 16-year-old son are both good pianists and were incredible at sight reading music."

The also have an 11-year-old son.

John described the host family as "politically active" and appreciative of their freedom in West Germany.

"The father would get newspapers from his relatives in East Germany and laugh when he read them. The whole front page, for example, would be made up of direct quotes from their president - just propaganda rather than news," John said.

John observed that the classes he visited in Germany were similar to those in the U.S. However, the Belleville High School junior noted that the students began studying foreign languages in the fourth or fifth grades and were permitted to take two hours of the same class thus enabling some of the students he met to have taken seven years of English.

"Many of them spoke English very well and a lot of students knew more than one language in addition to their own," John said. "We learned High German in school which is different than the German that is spoken in Bavaria, but we communicated without a problem."

SOON TO WED

Bailey – Lemke

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Bailey have announced the engagement of their daughter, Lynnette, to Michael Lemke. He is the son of Sharon Lemke of Westland.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Belleville High School and Central Michigan University. She is employed as an assistant controller at Ramco, Ger-shenson, Inc. in Southfield.

The groom-to-be is a graduate of Bishop Borgess High School and Michigan State University. He is employed as the commissary controller at Domino's Pizza headquarters in Ann Arbor.

Bailey – Lemke

The two are planning an April 16, 1988, wedding.

Miller – Gilliam

Randy and Tim Miller and Tina Parnell, of Wayne, have announced the engagement of their mother, Cindy Miller, to Cecil Gilliam, also of Wayne. He is the father of Steve Gilliam and Margie Weiland.

The two are planning a Sept. 26 wedding in which their four grandchildren – Andrea Parnell, 3, Danny Miller, 2, Nicole Weiland, 5 1/2, and Matthew Weiland, 3 – will serve as ring bearers and flower girls.

JUST MARRIED

Pratt – Sawoscinski

Deborah Joyce Pratt of St. Joseph and Rudolph Carl Sawoscinski of Westland were united in marriage Sept. 12 in a double-ring ceremony at Zion Lutheran Church in Kalamazoo. The Rev. Timothy Koenig officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Helen Pratt and the late John Pratt of St. Joseph. She is a graduate of Lake Michigan College and is currently completing her bachelor's degree in chemistry education at Western Michigan University.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Sawoscinski of North Hawthorne Street, Westland. He is a graduate of John Glenn High School. He is currently serving in the Navy as a nuclear electronics specialist on the submarine U.S.S. Lafayette, based in New London, Conn.

Joseph Maurig, the bride's uncle, gave her away. Music for the ceremony was provided by soloist Gary Cooper and organist Kris Tollefson, friends of the bride.

Daniel Bruce Avis was born the second child of Martin and Kimberly Avis of Westland on July 30.

The infant made his debut weighing in at 7 pounds, 12 ounces.

He is the new brother of Brad Martin, 2; the new grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Fredenburg and Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Avis of Garden City; the new great-grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Reese of Westland, Mr. and Mrs. Nolan Fredenburg of Green Valley, Ariz., Mrs. Mattie Lebring of Detroit and Mrs. Beatrice Adams of Logan, W. Va.; and the great-great-grandson of Mrs. Esther Rork of Livonia.

Lisa Geldys

Lisa Marie Geldys is the newest child of Suzanne and Jerry Geldys of Dearborn Heights, born Aug. 11 at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor.

The infant made her debut weighing in at 6 pounds, 13 1/2 ounces.

She is the new sister of Laura Marija; the new granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Macbrair of Sarasota, Fla., and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Geldys of Belleville; and the new great-granddaughter of Marija Baziliauskas of Belleville.

Vacations

Alaskan trip is 'paradise'

When Evelyn and Malcolm Smith of New Boston said their summer vacation was the greatest, the biggest and the best, one might have to believe them. Their trip to Alaska fulfilled a life-long dream.

In late June, the last of their two daughter graduated from college. They were finally on their own. "We wanted to do something for ourselves," said Malcolm with a twinkle in his eye.

Pages of a photo album are sprawled on top of the kitchen table with photos of majestic mountains, glaciers and fiords dotted with two little people. An occasional close up catches a glimpse of the Smiths dining, or in an awestruck pose dwarfed by their mammoth surroundings.

"It was great," said Evelyn. "It was just something we always wanted to do. We had never taken a cruise or visited Alaska. Within two weeks, we saw it all."

They flew from Romulus to Seattle and took a bus from there to Vancouver Island, Canada. They boarded a ship called the Amsterdam and cruised the inner coastal passage. Their first stop was Ketchikan in southern Alaska.

"We could see land all the time. The scenery was enjoyable. The mountains were spectacular," she said.

The couple made several stops inland where they toured a historic totem pole exhibit, a fish hatchery and the capitol buildings in Juneau. They traveled inland by train to Fairbanks, Denali National Park and Anchorage. Enroute, they saw Mt. McKinley the highest point in the United States at 20,000 feet. And they rafted the icy waters of a melting glacier.

Wayne resident finds family

It was the fascination of researching the history of his family that brought Dill King to Ireland in July. King, who has lived in Wayne since 1948, wanted to know more about his Irish heritage and his family background.

"We went to do research on our family tree," said King, who was joined by his sister Lenora Modzel of Taylor and son Steven King of California.

"We found the family on my mother's side and traced at least fragments of them back to 1308. I am planning on returning to Ireland because I want to do some more research, and I really enjoy the country," King said.

But it wasn't the first time King had visited the land of the leprechaun.

He was a member of a Marine detachment stationed aboard a U.S. Navy ship during World War II.

"During the war we used to pull into Londonderry (a seaport in Northern Ireland), but we didn't get much of a chance to go sightseeing," said King.

"We had a tremendous time," he said of his recent trip. "We had a complete tour of the country and went to 16 of the 26 countries."

King was surprised to see the small, narrow roads of the European countries.

"We were on a big tour bus and came around this corner. There were five cars coming toward us, and they had to stop and back up to let us pass. A double lane was about the size of one of our lanes.

"The cities were also very small, except for Dublin which is where half of the population of the country lives."

Florida beaches are sunny sites

"Wonderful" is the word that Sumpter Township Clerk Joan Oddy uses to describe the summer of 1987.

She and her husband, Bill, spent two weeks in Clearwater, Fla., sunbathing on the beach, collecting seashells and sightseeing. Later, they spent a week in the Upper Peninsula visiting the sights around St. Ignace.

The trip to Florida came just before the Sumpter Country Fest when Joan Oddy was hard at work on preparations for the event.

"It was the only time that Bill and I could get two weeks vacation together, so I tried to get everything done before we left and then I worried all the while we were there," she said. "Once we got to Florida, we really relaxed and enjoyed ourselves. We collected a lot of beautiful conch shells and sand dollars."

During their Alaskan trip, New Boston residents Evelyn and Malcolm Smith rafted the glacial river waters and enjoyed their cruise through the intercoastal passage.

Apparently her worries were in vain, because the Sumpter Country Fest was a successful event. Oddy said "it was down to the wire" getting the bleachers built for the rodeo, but everything else came off smoothly for the first big event sponsored by the township.

The Oddys visited the home that has been in their family for 100 years. The house in St. Ignace is reported to be 168 years old.

"We toured through the locks and also visited Sault Ste. Marie and spent a lot of time sightseeing," the township clerk said.

Bill Oddy participated in several sailing events, including the Mackinac race, but Joan Oddy is "not a natural born sailor" like other family members. Seasickness, she said, keeps her from enjoying the rolling waves as the rest of the Oddy family does.

Westland couple stays at home

If you seek a pleasant peninsula, look about you.

The Michigan state motto certainly seemed like a good promise for Craig and Sue Montie of Westland this summer as the two traveled extensively throughout the state. In June, the Monties spent two weeks in the upper peninsula, where they had the chance to relax and enjoy the weather and "the many faces of Michigan."

Although they rented an uncle's cottage in East Tawas, the couple did not limit themselves to that area alone.

"We had a magnificent view of a lake behind us and a cozy little cottage to stay at. And there's no place quite like Michigan in the summertime. It's at its best then. It's like everything comes alive," said Sue.

Sue's husband, Craig, called his vacation a learning experience.

"There are parts of Michigan that I'd never even been to, but I made it a point to get some more exposure to this state while I was up north. And I liked what I saw," he said.

Besides the usual vacation pastimes – fishing, canoeing, shopping at souvenir shops and eating out a lot – the Monties said the highlight of their trip came occurred the day before they returned home.

"We went to Mackinac Island. We figured we'd make a day of it, so we got up really early and drove the three hours from the cottage. We're sorry we waited until the last day to go there now," said Craig.

Sue said being on the island was like being in a fairylane.

"It was so peaceful. There are no cars on the island, therefore you either have to ride on a bike, a horse and buggy or walk to get to other places on the island. It was like being back 100 years earlier," she said. "And with the whole island being surrounded by the (Great Lakes), there's such a beautiful view."

Craig said he enjoyed the historical aspect of the island, as well.

Nursing Refresher Course

Timing is everything

Now is the time!

If you've waited until now to get back into nursing, your timing couldn't be better. Peoples Community Hospital Authority introduces a unique plan to help you return to your profession with confidence.

We are hiring inactive nurses and enrolling them in a nurse refresher course specially designed by PCHA and Eastern Michigan University. As a PCHA employee, you'll receive six weeks of theory and clinical experience to sharpen your skills in current nursing practice. Upon graduation, you'll be ready to confidently take your place providing care at one of our five hospitals.

Full information on PCHA salaries, benefits, working environment and on this special nurse refresher course are available by calling 467-4634.

Take advantage of this opportunity to resume nursing in a rewarding and stimulating environment. The time is right. We're waiting for you!

Mexican magic is created in local woman's kitchen

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

When the fire alarm sounds at home, it's only because Virginia Bernier just finished making her famous Mexican hot sauce. Hot is the way she likes it, although other family members prefer a slightly milder version.

Food critics across the country are jumping on the band wagon. "Mexican food is the in-food," they have repeatedly said. From fast food to elegant dining, from Taco Bell to Chi Chi's, Mexican cuisine is sprouting up everywhere.

And the Bernier family is following suit, although they have been serving up the "south of the border" treats for dozens of years.

Bernier was born in San Antonio, Texas, where she acquired her Mexican taste-buds. Her grandparents and their 16 children were among the first Mexican inhabitants to arrive in the area, she said, and were the founding members of the Free Will Baptist Church in Wayne.

Her parents, however, were born in Wayne.

Bernier and her 11 brothers and sisters spent many years between the two cities. Twenty years ago, she graduated from John Glenn High School.

Today, she is married, has four children and lives in Wayne.

"It's really neat," she said. "My oldest son will enter John Glenn in the fall. My oldest daughter starts college at the same time the youngest girl begins kindergarten," Bernier explained.

Virginia and husband, Mark, also have a 4-year-old son. Mark serves in the Air Force Reserves and marched in President Reagan's Inauguration.

But what about Bernier's creative flair for Mexican cooking? All of her recipes come straight from the South, she said, having learned the Mexican culinary skills from her mother, grandmother and other relatives.

"Everywhere I go, I learn to cook from people. My mother-in-law came from Mexico City. She taught me how to make tostados, which are really called 'chalupa,'" Bernier said. "I was making tortillas when I was 14. My mother and grandmother taught me the basics - rice, beans, potatoes and meat. It's all authentic Mexican food.

"I take after my grandma. Everybody loves her cooking. In fact, I have to fight with her to cook in the kitchen," she said.

All fighting aside, Bernier offered just a sampling of her many, taste-tempting treats.

HOT SAUCE

Blender method:

16 ounces canned, whole tomatoes, stewed or fresh
1 small onion, quartered
1/2 bell pepper, quartered and seeded
4 jalapeno peppers cut in half

1/2 teaspoon black pepper, optional

1 teaspoon salt
1 section garlic clove, mashed or 1 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder

Add ingredients to blender. Mix well. If hotter sauce is desired, add more jalapeno peppers (or less for a milder sauce).

Stove method, chunky:

16 ounces canned, whole tomatoes, stewed or fresh
1 small onion, quartered
1/2 bell pepper, quartered and seeded
4 jalapeno peppers cut in half

1/2 teaspoon black pepper, optional

1 teaspoon salt
1 section garlic clove, mashed or 1 1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
2 tablespoons oil

Blend only jalapeno peppers and clove of garlic in 1/2 liquid from tomato can. (If using fresh tomatoes, use 1/4 cup of water instead.) Simmer oil in saucepan. Dice onion and bell peppers in small pieces. Add peppers and other ingredients to tomatoes. Chop tomatoes into small chunks and add to sauce pan. Simmer 10-15 minutes.

SOFT, FLOUR TORTILLAS

6 cups flour
1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon baking powder
3/4 cup Crisco or vegetable shortening

2 cups water

Mix all dry ingredients together. Add water 1/2 cup

Virginia Bernier's Mexican recipes are truly from the "south of the border." ANP at a time to form pizza-like dough. Knead together until soft, but not sticky. (May not use all water. If dough is sticky, add flour.)

Roll dough into ball the size of the palm of your hand or a small biscuit. Roll out with rolling pin. Cook on dry, medium hot grill. (Has to be right temperature.) Cook on both sides.

Use tortillas with anything from peanut butter to bologna to tacos. Eat tortillas like you would bread.

SPANISH RICE

1 cup rice
1 small diced onion
1 small diced bell pepper
1 section clove garlic, mashed

1 teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon pepper
1 teaspoon cumin
1 cup whole can tomatoes
3 cups water

Brown rice in frying pan until golden brown. Add onion and green peppers. Saute with a little rice. Add seasonings, water and tomatoes. Cook approximately 20 minutes over medium heat. If still dry, add 1/2 cup more water, until water cooks down. Optional, use chicken broth instead of water.

CARNE GUISADA

1 medium roast or round steak
1/4 cup oil
1 small diced onion
1 small diced bell pepper
1 teaspoon black pepper
1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons cumin
2 stalks diced celery
16-oz. can whole tomatoes, diced

1/3 cup flour
4 cups water
Cut meat in bite size pieces. In frying pan, brown in oil. Add onions, green peppers and celery and saute. Add flour to brown a little, stirring occasionally. Add water, stir well. Add spices and tomatoes. Cover and cook over medium heat, and if using a roast stir occasionally for 20-25 minutes. If using round steak, cook over low heat for 45-50 minutes.

GUACAMOLE

3 soft avocados
1/2 small diced onion
1 teaspoon garlic salt or 1

section small clove garlic
1 small firm tomato, diced into small pieces

1 teaspoon salt, or to taste
Cut avocados into quarters. Remove seed and mash with fork. Blend in other ingredients. Optional: To keep mixture from turning brown, either add 3 tablespoons lemon juice or put seeds back into mixture.

TITO'S FAVORITE PORK CHOPS

1 package 6 to 7 pork chops
2 tablespoons cooking oil
1/2 medium onion
1/2 large pepper
16 ounce can whole tomatoes

1 teaspoon salt
2 teaspoons garlic powder or 1 medium clove garlic, mashed

1 teaspoon cumin

Brown pork chops in oil. Slice onions and peppers lengthwise and spread over pork chops. Add tomato liquid. Cut tomatoes into chunky pieces and pour over pork chops. Sprinkle spices over meat. Cover and let simmer over medium heat for 20 minutes.

TACO SALAD

2 pounds ground beef
1 head lettuce, shredded
3-4 diced tomatoes
2 cups grated cheese
1/2 cup sliced olives, optional

1 package taco seasoning mix
8 ounces creamy Italian dressing

3 cups nacho cheese chips

1) Cook beef, drain and cool.
2) Add lettuce, tomatoes, cheese and olives.
3) Sprinkle seasoning mix over beef.
4) Add nachos chips and dressing.
5) Stir and serve. Serves 8.

Celebrity recipes are a hit

Since last week and the publication of the to-then secret recipe for Lee Iacocca's favorite cake, I didn't realize how popular celebrity recipes really are. Following the response to Lido's cake secrets, however, I figured I'd try this again.

This time, I have secured, at no small expense or trouble, the ultra-secret and super-delicious directions for preparation of Bob Hope's favorite lemon pie.

Now, if chocolate did not exist, although I cannot imagine the horror of a world without it, lemon might be my runner-up favorite. This, I guarantee, is a good pie. It's simple, not too rich and full of flavor with a very pleasing texture and consistency.

I have further secured for your edification, Sophia Loren's recipe for cheesecake. I do confess, however, that I did not try old Sophia's recipe-it sounded like too much trouble for the intended results to me. It is interesting, however, and might be worth adding to your collection.

BOB HOPE'S LEMON PIE

1 8-inch pre-baked pie shell

just desserts

sue willert

1 cup plus 2 tablespoons sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
1 cup boiling water
4 tablespoons lemon juice
2 tablespoons butter
4 egg yolks--reserve the whites for meringue
pinch of salt
grated rind of one lemon

Combine the cornstarch and sugar; add the water slowly, stirring constantly until thick and smooth, over low to medium heat. Remove from heat, add the slightly beaten egg yolks, butter and lemon rind and juice and salt. Cook, stirring constantly, for two to three minutes. Cool. Pour into baked pie shell. Top pie with a meringue made from the egg whites, beaten with 2 1/2 teaspoons sugar until stiff peaks form. Bake this at 350 degrees, or just until lightly browned. (Once again, this is simple, but really tasty).

SOPHIA LOREN'S CHEESECAKE

1 stick col, sweet butter
1 1/2 cups flour
1/4 cup superfine sugar
pinch of salt
1 egg yolk, slightly beaten
1/2 teaspoon vanilla
2 or 3 tablespoons milk

Place butter (which should be cut into small pieces) in bowl with flour, sugar and salt. With pastry blender or fingertips, work butter into dry ingredients until it resembles coarse meal. Mix egg yolk with vanilla and milk and add to flour mixture, kneading for about one minute. Place ball of dough in plastic wrap and chill in refrigerator for one hour. Roll out two thirds of dough and line a 9-inch pie plate, crimping edges. Place remaining dough in refrigerator and reserve.

Fighting the law
Baptist teachers challenge certification requirements

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

"Certified" doesn't necessarily mean "qualified," according to the Rev. John Vaprezsan of the Metro Baptist Church in Belleville, who this week continues an ongoing battle with state education officials on whether or not teachers at the church school should be required to possess state certification.

For nine years, church officials have been challenging a state law that requires teachers to be certified before teaching in both public- and private-school classrooms. Vaprezsan contends that the 10 staff members teaching the 135 students enrolled at Metro Baptist shouldn't be subjected to the requirement.

"This is equal to state licensure of a church ministry," said Vaprezsan. "It infringes on religious freedom."

State lawmakers addressed the issue this spring, Vaprezsan said, when the state Senate passed a bill that would have permitted uncertified teachers in private schools. State House of Representatives officials are expected to draft their own version of the proposal and act on the issue this fall.

However, both proposals are expected to require all Michigan teachers - public and private - to pass standardized education tests. Vaprezsan said his teachers would submit to the testing if the certification requirement could be lifted.

"Certification of teachers does not guarantee results. The proof is clearly seen in our public schools. Instead of teacher certification, why not allow the Christian schools to provide results of the progress of its students? We're willing to show the quality of our product."

"After all, what is it that the state is looking for - the cosmetic look of certification, or results?" said Vaprezsan.

Throughout the country, 44 states allow non-certified teachers to work in private schools, Vaprezsan said. Michigan, however, is one of the exceptions.

State certification, under Michigan guidelines, can be obtained through graduation from a four-year, state-approved college or university or by taking at least 18 college credit hours in specific courses in a state-approved education institution.

The 10 teachers at Metro Baptist have obtained four-year degrees, Vaprezsan said, but the schools awarding the degrees are generally not recognized by state education officials as "certified."

"As a Christian school, we obtain our teachers mostly from Christian colleges. These are four-year degrees, but most of Christian colleges are not state-approved," Vaprezsan said. "Our philosophy centers around the spiritual and Biblical truths. These are incorporated into all courses - math, English or science. But the Supreme Court has ruled against teachings of the Bible in public schools."

John Vaprezsan will continue battling with state education officials in hopes that teachers at Metro Baptist someday won't need certification. ANP photos by Steve Bachand

State certification requirements date back to 1921, when a state statute was approved, mandating that all public and non-public schools hire certified teachers, according to Dan Austin, Michigan Department of Education director of certification. The statute was challenged in 1979 by a church school in circuit court, which ruled that the state had no authority to require certification.

A Michigan Court of Appeals decision later overturned the circuit court ruling, Austin continued. The state Supreme Court in December 1986 upheld the Court of Appeals decision, and the U.S. Supreme Court earlier this year refused to hear the case on appeal.

"We're now trying to work out the status of non-certified teachers," Austin said. "However, of all the teachers in the state, 90 percent of teachers in church-related schools do comply with certification standards."

Good times begin at St. Aloysius

Excitement is never an item absent from the annual St. Aloysius Festival in Romulus. But this year, more thrills than ever before are being predicted.

One highlight of the festival will be Elvis Presley impersonator Alvis Allan. And, of course, the arrival of Pope John Paul II at Metro airport in just three weeks is sure to occupy the minds of many.

The festival is traditionally marked by the participation of many local families and individuals. Josephine Molenda and her faithful band of cooks have been busy at work, freezing, canning and preparing another gourmet feast.

Like last year, the famous, full-course chicken dinner will be served from noon to 6 p.m. Sunday. And how can you improve upon perfection? Try Monday.

Spaghetti dinners will be served that day from 1 to 6 p.m. Dining-room Chairperson Mary Ann Ryznar is expecting to serve between 1,500 and 2,000 chicken dinners and up to 800 spaghetti meals.

For the all-American appetites, "Hamburger Villa" with Chuck Shonta offers hamburgers, hotdogs, kielbasa, pizza and pop. Cheryl LaRouche will man the ice cream booth.

Alvis Alan will belt out a few favorite tunes on stage from 7 to 11 p.m. Saturday.

"There is no cover charge to see Alvis or any other entertainment all weekend," noted Tony LaRouche, advertising chairman.

Breaking the ice, so to speak, are the Klancnik Brothers from 7 to 11 p.m. Friday.

On Sunday, Tommy Reder and the Polka Towners lead from 2 to 6 p.m., followed by Tempo Tones from 7 to 11 p.m. On Monday, Heart and Soul will wrap up the festival with special performance from 3 to 9 p.m.

Other highlights of the festival include a raffle-ticket sale. Richard Dick, festival chairman, along with co-chairman, Chuck Noel, explain that the grand prize of $7,000 can be won with a $1 and $10 ticket.

Midge Hamel, chairperson of the "Spirit Tent," needs no introduction. She and her co-workers, Marsha Bergeron and Steve Ryznar, are the same team who served the public last year.

"We're looking forward to seeing our old friends as well as making new ones," said Hamel.

The Las Vegas games are among the most popular festival activities. The millionaire tent will consist of 14 blackjack tables and a big-six wheel. Pete Bergeron, games chairman, and co-workers, Kathy Freitag and Bill Hanes, are among the 75 people who work this tent during the weekend.

Two auctions, bingo, a 50/50 raffle, an arcade and games will also highlight the annual festival.

St. Aloysius is located at 11280 Ozga Road, Romulus. For more information call 941-5056.

Chiefs hunt scalps

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

If New Boston Huron is going to keep its football gear above conference waters, Coach Tom Lebeau will have to get some surprises. That's what Lebeau, beginning his 11th season at Huron, believes. "The league is balanced (in strength), with the exception of Monroe Jefferson which I believe should be the favorite. We have to have some people come through for us. If we get those surprises, we should be extremely competitive." Jefferson, the defending conference champ, and Riverview, a downriver powerhouse, were the only two teams that caused Lebeau's small cadre of gridders problems last year. The Chiefs finished 3-6 in '86, and that was an improvement over the previous years when football victories were very rare. Huron begins its '87 debut 7:30 p.m. Friday, Sept. 4 at home against Dearborn Heights Annapolis. The games between the two non-conference rivals have been dogfights, and Lebeau doesn't have any information to change his mind about the pending opener. "It has always been a hard-hitting, close game with them," Lebeau noted. "It's a good way to open." The Chiefs have five starters back from last year's team, including Jon Tackett, a senior running back, fullback Len Ziegler, guards Mike Tavtigian and Mike Emery, along with tackle

New Boston Huron's Chiefs will be out for scalps during the '87 campaign.

Tom Waters. It's a good solid nucleus, for a start. Then, Lebeau and coaching staff members Gary McGuire and Jon Lebeau, the coach's brother, have a handful of other letter-winners who saw only limited action a year ago. That rank is ends Sam Hall, Mark Laurain, guard Scott Staten, split end Dave Greggo, and quarterback Mike Valentine. Valentine will have a difficult time filling the shoes of John Umin, who has graduated. Umin was an unusual sparkplug and his departure from the gridiron leaves a huge gap to be filled. Valentine and a sophomore, Paul Hill, are competing for the starting QB role.

With Tackett and Ziegler in the backfield, and the return of the offensive line, intact, the Chiefs may be able to reverse some of last year's losing encounters in their favor. "It is not a big line," Lebeau noted, "but, I believe it can do the job. Anyway, I am hoping so." But with 27 players on the varsity roster, the Chiefs can't afford injury. To anyone. "There is no way any team can keep away from injuries," Lebeau said. "The hurts and bruises will always be in there. However, if we can keep from sustaining serious injuries, I believe we should be extremely competitive."

Tigers face tough Glenn in opener

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The 1987 high school football season gets underway Friday night with traditional opening day rivals poised for the drama that hopefully will eventually lead to the Pontiac Silverdome, the site of the Michigan High School Athletic Association state championships. But, few coaches are thinking November and state playoffs at this time. They have the task of preparing for the 1987 debuts. And the task before Belleville High Coach Dave McCarney will be a difficult one. He and his Tigers have to find a way to convince last year's state semifinalist, Westland John Glenn, that the Rockets are not the team they were of old. The Westlanders have always caused Belleville problems in the opener.

"They (John Glenn) are a tough, very aggressive and hard-hitting team," McCarney stressed as he put his Tigers through their final practices in preparation for the opener. "I believe that the team that commits the fewer first-game mistakes will come out of this one the winner." McCarney's 1987 grid mold has the quickness (See SPECIAL SECTION) and the strength, he says, to stop the power plays, something the past clubs lacked. Belleville opponents put TDs on the scoreboard using their power, but the Tigers couldn't find a way to respond. In the meantime, the Westlanders may have as good as - and some believe better club this year than the one that reached the state playoff a year ago.

The Rocket defensive line averages 195-pounds and is anchored by 6-1, 230-pound senior tri-captain and tackle Chris Scheffer. At the other tackle is 6-1, 185-pound senior Jerry Cleaver, a newcomer to the line but a two-year varsity veteran. Other defensemen who could cause the Tigers trouble include 5-6, 206-pound nose guard, Joe Jazarawi. The two defensive ends Belleville's offense will probably be looking at are tri-captains Mark Bauschat (senior, 6-2, 170) and Bill Piepsney (senior, 6-1, 186). The Belleville secondary will also be put to the test as Clint Straub, who inherited the quarterbacking slot from All-Area performer and all-state candidate, Steve Hawley, is noted for his pinpoint tosses. "Clint has a tremendous arm and has played very well," said Gordon, who will have the advantage for the home field and crowd for the 7:30 p.m. Friday game at John Glenn. Straub also has a pair of excellent targets to aim for in Danny Keck (5-10, 160) and Tony Lumetta (6-0, 173).

Take away all of the adjectives, look for the outcome of this game to be decided in the last seconds. It will be close.

Look for dogfight in Wolverine 'A'

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

In recent years, Belleville and Wayne Memorial have had to look up at Fordson and Trenton at the end of the football season. The positions may be reversed in 1987, if the pieces fall into place for the two local representatives in that traditionally tough Wolverine 'A' football conference. "Off of what they have put on the field in the past, I would have to say that the two powers (Trenton and Fordson) are the teams to beat again this year in our conference," said Wayne Memorial's Chuck Howton. "But, we could - and so can Belleville - pull some surprises this year." Belleville's Dave McCarney agrees. "Those two teams have always been tough," said McCarney, "but there is a feeling that there will be more balance in the league this year. The gap between the haves and have nots is closing." McCarney is pinning his hopes on 18 returning lettermen who were among the 65 players that reported for practice. Of those 18 letterwinners, eight are returning starters. The notables include defensive standouts Rod Schellenbarger, Blaine Armstrong, Donell Thomas, and J.P. Fallen along with center John Barledge, tackle Jeff Sykes and tight end Ray Lewis. Chico Crout also will find a spot somewhere in the defensive secondary. Scott Janack returns to handle the punting and placekicking for the Tigers. Getting off to a winning start has been a problem for Belleville in recent years. And it may be rough on the Tigers in '87 as they will travel to Westland John Glenn for their opener. They'll kick off the season 7:30 p.m. Friday, Sept. 4 against Coach Chuck Gordon and his Rockets, who are the defending Western Lakes Conference champs and, a year ago, reached the Class A state semifinals before being eliminated from the playoffs. In the meantime, Howton and the Tigers are preparing for their 7:30 p.m., Sept. 4 date with Garden City. Wayne is also on the road for its 1987 opener. A 5-4 club a year ago, Wayne will rely on quickness and a swarming-type defense to better their record. Howton is looking at Mike Heard as a replacement for quarterback Doug Quartuccio, who has an excellent arm. "Because of Heard's passing ability, we are going to put the ball up in the air more than we did in the past," Howton said.

YOUR CHOICE; METHOD OF HEALING

Those of us who are in ill health, will seek the services of one who is trained in the healing arts. We wish to place ourselves under the care of one who will restore our health.
If we have never been under chiropractic care in the past, we will then wish to know what chiropractic can do for us? Will it improve my condition? How will chiropractic restore my health?

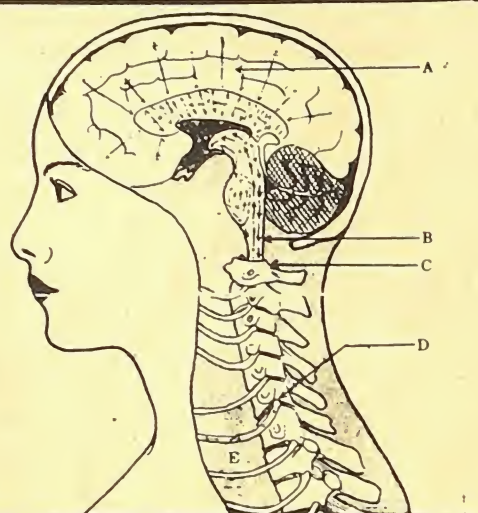

As a chiropractic patient, you will receive no drugs or undergo no surgery for your sickness.
How then will you get well without the use of drugs or surgery?
To properly understand this, we must realize that there is A CAUSE OF ILL HEALTH. This cause must be found and corrected to restore good health.
What is this CAUSE and how can chiropractic correct it?
After your case history has been taken, a SPINAL EXAMINATION will follow to locate the cause of your sickness.

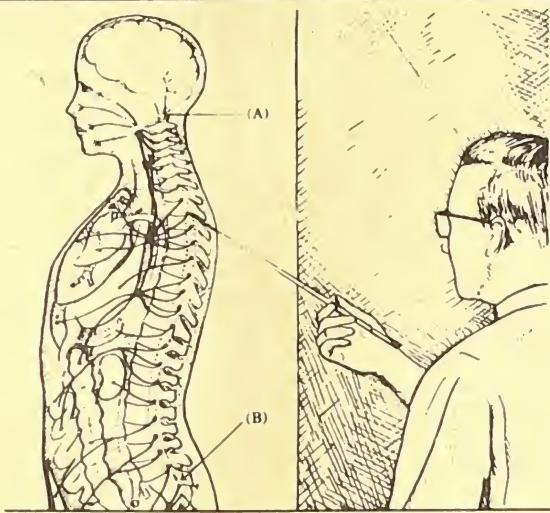

SPINAL EXAMINATION

By use of X-Ray machine, nerve tracing instruments or by feeling (palpation) the chiropractor examines the spine. He will then determine if there are any vertebrae (bony segments of the spine) out of place thus causing pressure upon the nerves.
But why examine the spine when our trouble is elsewhere? WHAT HAVE THESE OUT OF PLACE VERTEBRAE TO DO WITH OUR ILLNESS? WHAT IS NERVE PRESSURE?

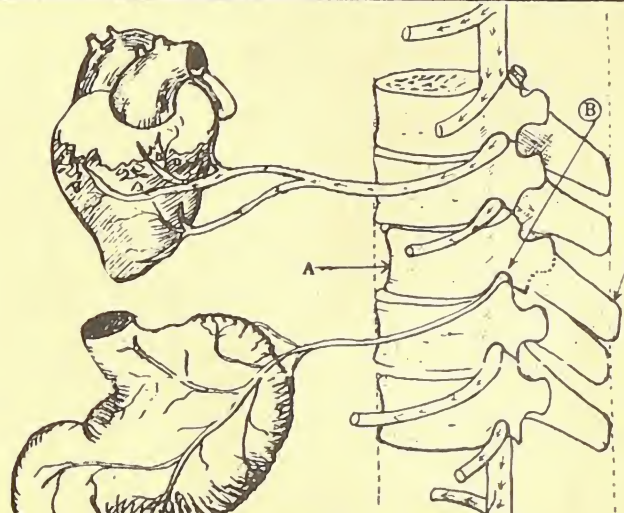

All our bodily functions such as digestion, heart beat or breathing receive mental impulses or nerve energy from the brain, (A). These mental impulses flow down spinal cord, (B). Spinal cord enters spine, (C). Small openings between vertebrae (D), permit nerves, (E), to emerge and to carry these vital mental impulses or nerve energy to all parts of our bodies. [See next page.] THESE VERTEBRAE ARE MOVABLE. THUS WE CAN SEE SHOULD A VERTEBRA SLIP OUT OF PLACE, THAT WOULD NARROW THE OPENING THUS PINCHING THE NERVE.

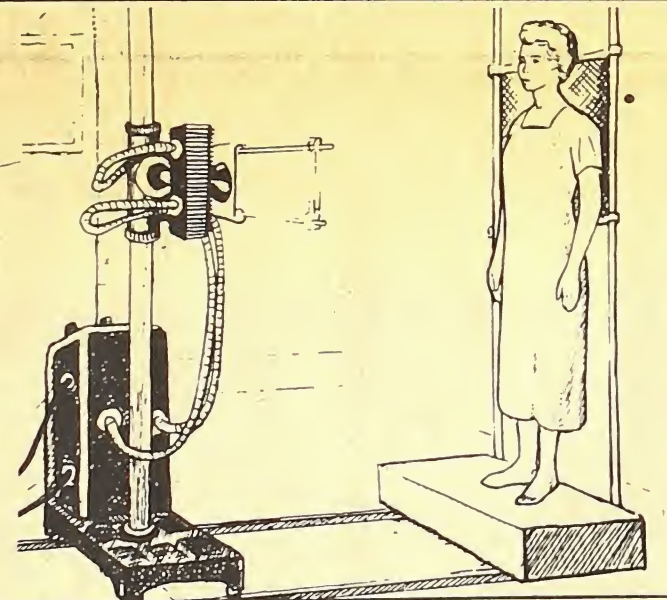

NERVE ENERGY; FROM BRAIN TO BODY

Our spine consists of 24 movable bony segments called vertebrae. The spinal column is not a solid bony structure. Rather it is hollow in its center to permit spinal cord, (A) to enter at the top and continue through its center to bottom of spine, (B). In between each vertebra are small openings to permit nerves, which branch off spinal cord, to emerge and to be distributed to various organs.

SUBLUXATION; THE CAUSE OF SICKNESS

Since our vertebrae of the spine are movable, it is then possible for one to slip out of place, (A). When this happens, it will narrow opening (B) thus pressing upon the nerve. This is called a subluxation. It will interfere with normal flow of nerve energy. Any interference with the normal transmission of vital mental impulses or nerve energy from brain to organs will result in sickness.

X-RAY EXAMINATION

Very beneficial in the examination of the patient is the X-Ray machine. If your chiropractor advises an X-Ray examination, your spine will then be X-Rayed, perhaps at different angles, to reveal its condition. Spinographs (X-Ray films of spine) are of great aid in locating subluxations.

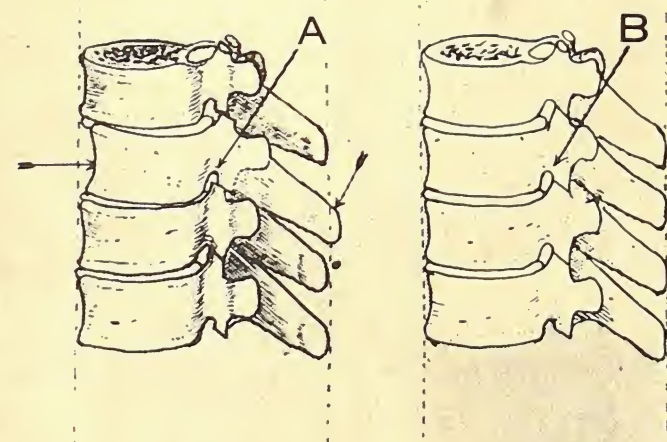

X-RAY ANALYSIS

After the X-Ray's have been taken, the films will be analyzed to determine if a subluxation is present. If the X-Ray films reveal a vertebra that is out of place, these same films will then aid the chiropractor in determining how to correct this subluxation.

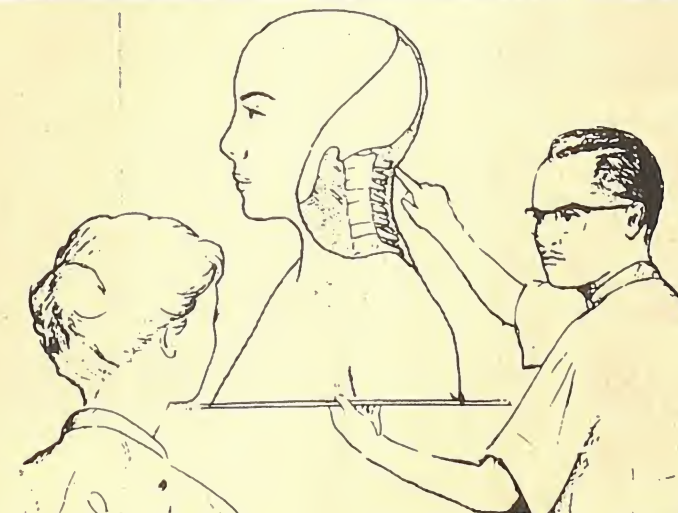

THE SPINAL ADJUSTMENT

If the spinal examination reveals a subluxation, the chiropractor will then, by the use of his hands, adjust that vertebra in order to restore it to its normal position. The spinal adjustment is completed by the chiropractor with skill and efficiency with no discomfort to the patient.

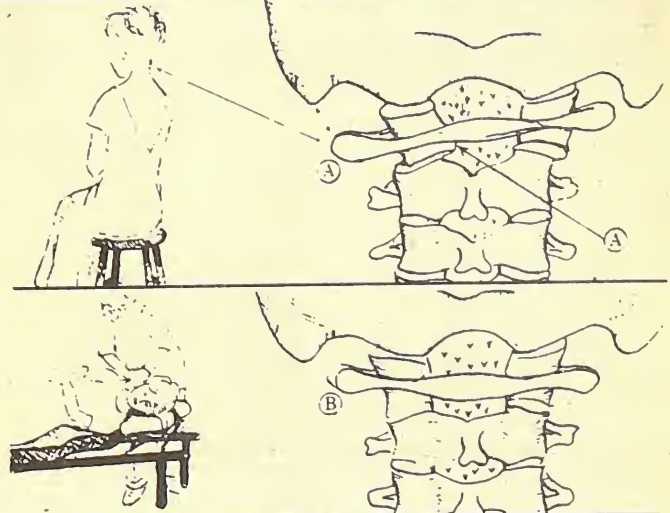

SUBLUXATION; BEFORE AND AFTER ADJUSTMENTS

Section of spine at the left illustrates a vertebra that is slightly out of place. This subluxation will narrow small opening between vertebra (A) from which nerves emerge leading to various organs. (See page 6). View at right shows how subluxated vertebra is restored to its normal position by spinal adjustments. OPENING BETWEEN VERTEBRA (B) IS NOW NORMAL.

THE CERVICAL OR NECK REGION

THE MOST FREELY MOVABLE part of the spine is in the neck region. Here the cervical vertebrae are constantly articulating as we move our head in different directions throughout our daily activities. While this movement is normal, an abrupt turn, work or play habits that tend to keep head in certain positions for long periods of time, falls, strains and even sleep (improper head support) may cause a subluxation in this region.

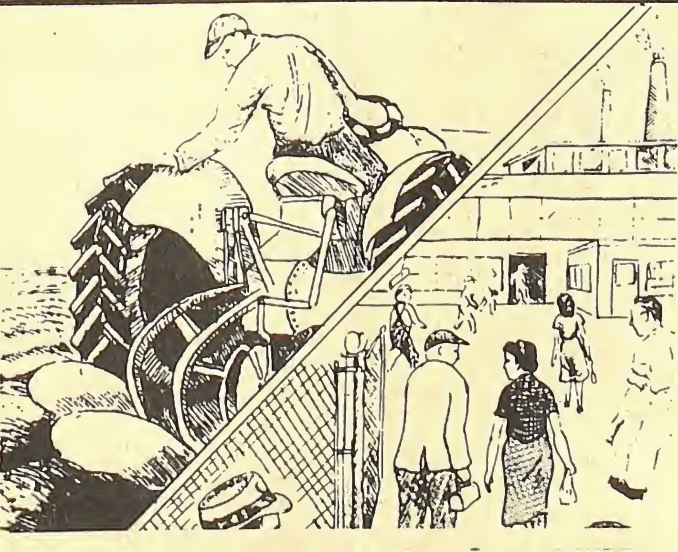

UPPER CERVICAL ADJUSTMENT

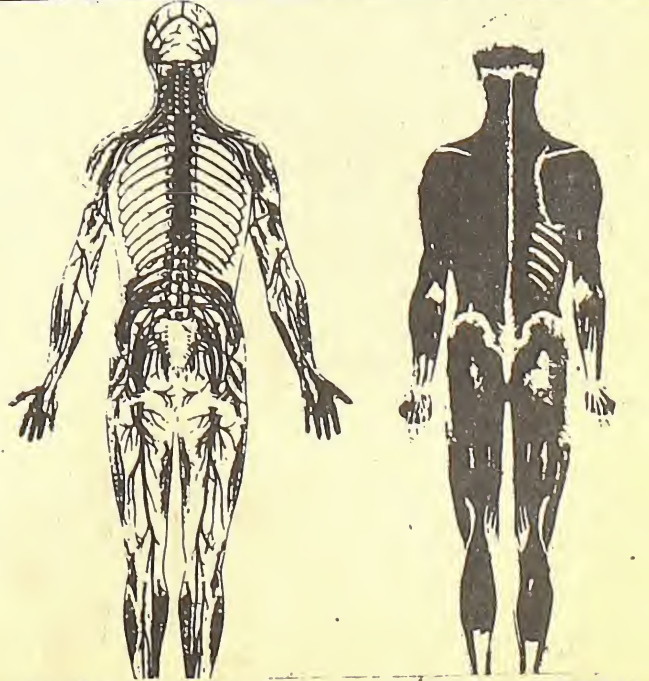

Because the spinal cord leaves the brain and enters the spinal canal in the cervical (neck) region, a subluxation occurring here may put pressure upon the spinal cord, (A). This will interfere with the normal flow of vital mental impulses to the body and organs. To correct this condition a NECK OR UPPER CERVICAL ADJUSTMENT will be necessary to restore vertebra to its normal position, (B), thus relieving pressure upon the spinal cord.

Many times a patient will have a chronic subluxation. (one of long duration) This subluxation may have developed over a period of time through certain work habits or perhaps during other activities that put a strain on the spine. It may be the result of a previous accident, fall, or strain. A subluxation of long standing may impair the efficiency of the surrounding muscles and tissues. That efficiency must be restored. Therefore adjustments over a period of time may be necessary to restore vertebra to its normal position.

Because of the nature of his work, the industrial worker is frequently subject to back injuries and strains. Lifting, loading, or perhaps certain machine or bench work may cause back trouble. Also subject to various back mishaps is the farmer. TIME LOST FROM WORK WILL BE LESSENED when the worker is put under chiropractic care following back injuries. At the same time, if a subluxation is present, it will be corrected thus preventing sickness later as a result of nerve pressure.

CHRISTINE SKONE, OWNER of the California Concept Ladies Figure Salon at 8515 Lilley Road in Canton, has announced a "One Year Anniversary" celebration. The celebration will take the form of a fall fashion show, scheduled for 7 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 8. Skone is very excited about the fashion show and hopes it will help illustrate her commitment to catering to the "mature" woman - how she can feel better and look better.

PETER EVERY, SENIOR concepts designer for the Kelsey-Hayes Research and Development Center, was recently awarded the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration Award for Safety Engineering Excellence. The award was presented to Every by Elizabeth H. Dole, secretary of the U.S. Department of Transportation, and Diane K. Steed, administrator of NHTSA, during the 11th International Conference on Experimental Safety Vehicles in Washington, D.C. Every was honored for advancing the safety of light trucks through efforts to develop a low-cost and highly effective rear axle anti-lock brake control system.

Small business

Publisher charts tough course

Move over Lee Iacocca, Donald Petersen and Roger Smith--the group which represents the largest employer in the state recently elected a new chief executive officer and he's a man with big plans.

The group is the Small Business Association of Michigan, and new president David J. Willett includes revealing the fact that small businesses provide 87 percent of the jobs in the country among his goals for his term as the executive officer of the group.

Willett was elected during the annual summer meeting of the organization, along with a new board of officers. "The fact that small business provides the number of jobs it does, and the importance of small business to the economy of the state and the country has been downplayed for too long. We have very gradually been coming into our own as a power, political and economic in the state, and one of my goals is to keep up the momentum, particularly now," Willett, who served on the board of directors for two years, said.

Willett, 44, is the president and publisher of Associated Newspapers which includes The Wayne Eagle, The Westland Eagle, The Romulus Roman, The Belleville Enterprise, The Inkster Ledger Star and The Canton Eagle. He purchased the business 10 years ago, contrary to much public speculation that he inherited the newspapers from his father.

A long time area resident, Willett lived in Canton Township and Wayne prior to moving to Westland where he and his wife, Susan, make their home. His wife presently serves as general manager of the six publications.

A delegate to two White House conferences on small business, Willett explained that he has seen the importance of being involved in the forming of policy and legislation. "I cannot strongly enough emphasize the impact legislation in this state can have on small businessmen. These people are the real backbone of the economy here, not the big three. These are the men and women who are willing to take the risk, put it all on the line and pursue the American dream--they deserve the help of the legislature and the government. Any threat to them is a threat to our whole economy and I think politicians are beginning, finally, to understand that," Willett said.

As if to back his claim, the new president said that a state conference is presently being planned by members of the governor's staff. Although he cited some difficulties in the format, he said he now expects that conference to have some serious impact on the future of state regulations.

Among the issues in which the small business group has been involved are the single business tax relief which in 1984 provided for up to a 90 percent credit for qualified businesses. Bad check reform, small claims court limits, anti-trust regulations, equal access, franchise deregulation and securities deregulation.

Small business is presently defined as the employer of fewer than 500 people. While Willett readily admitted that he would not actually consider himself a small business if his payroll hit 499, most of the members of the group employ far under that limit.

The group presently has about 2,600 members across the state, but that leaves a majority of the small businesses registered without official status in the group. "Obviously, I'd like to see everyone eligible join. Normally, I think most small business operators consider themselves too busy running their operations to be joiners of other than local groups. But I do believe in SBAM. I've seen what we can do as a group. I wish I could talk to every small business owner in the state and just tell them how important they are and what we are accomplishing as a united power.

"We're important--just as important as the auto companies or the steel manufacturers, but we've got to stand up and be counted," Willett said.

The group began nearly 20 years ago, but has only begun to be a power in the past 10 years, Willett explained. "Following the 1980 White House Conference people began to realize the importance and the value of this group," he said.

Willett is quick to note that the group is bi-partisan and non-profit and is committed to the sole purpose of improving the climate for small business operators in the state.

"The mom and pop party store, the gas station owner, the small manufacturer--we are all affected by the impact of legislation and regulations within this state. We don't have any limit to our membership or parochial interests other than those of small business. I'd like to see this conference make a real impact at the state level and I'd like to see our membership grow," Willett said.

THE STEAM TELEVISION.

All you get are reruns of "Til the Clouds Roll By." Just imagine a world without electricity, and you'll know why Detroit Edison works so hard to make sure you're never without it. If you ever have a problem, call us. We're here to help. Good old electricity. It's more than a bargain. Comes right out of the wall. And never mildews your wallpaper.

A good part of your life.

It's so easy to go to Windsor And so much fun!

Just get in your car and head for the tunnel to Canada. And as soon as you're there, you're in Windsor! If you don't have a car, take your yacht--because there's lots of places to dock a boat on the other side.

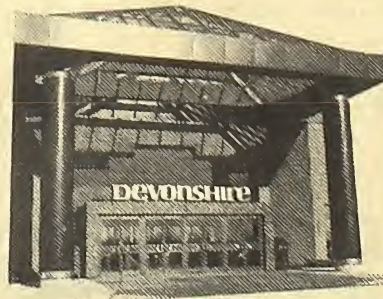

If you like sidewalk cafes, tree-lined boulevards and a lively, bustling city, you'll like Windsor. It's great for lunch or dinner, with places like TBQ's Other Place and the Hilton Park Terrace. You can walk anywhere you want to downtown, then get in your car and go shopping or sightseeing.

Go for a drive along the river. You'll find 16 miles of riverfront where the best view of Detroit is from Windsor. Think of all the things you'll find along the way--lively street fairs, flower parks, and little harbors full of fishing boats. You won't find a waterfront like it anywhere else in the country.

Go to Windsor for the nightlife. There's rock and roll. Jazz. And the Windsor Symphony. If you're looking for a little night music, you've come to the right place: Windsor.

Enjoy shopping and enjoy saving, where your money's worth much more. At Devonshire Mall, you shop where Canadians shop--at 150 stores just 10 minutes from downtown Windsor. Save on housewares, clothing, jewelry, gifts, cameras and sporting goods.

There's another country just a mile away from Detroit. And another city: Windsor. A blend of European charm, friendly people and plenty to see and do. It could be just the change of scene you need, and it's only minutes away.

Let's go to Windsor!

History is rolling

This 1900-era buggy from the Wayne Historical Museum will be just one of several antique items appearing in the Westland Sesquicentennial parade, which begins at 10 a.m. Saturday. The parade, which will feature participants from Wayne, Westland, the former Nankin Township and Inkster, will begin at the former Perrinville School, located at Ann Arbor Trail and Merriman roads, proceeding south on Merriman and turning southwest onto Hines Drive. It will continue in a northwest direction along Hines Drive, en route to the Old Nankin Mill, where the parade will end. Following the parade will be standard introductions and a flag-raising ceremony. An old-fashioned picnic will round out the day at the mill. The event is the locally sponsored celebration for the 150th birthday of the state of Michigan. ANP photo by Guy Warren staff photographer

Coming up

The 40TH ANNUAL MICHIGAN DUCK Hunters Tournament, Midwest Decoy Contest, Midwest Duck Calling Contest and Wildlife Art Show is scheduled for Sept. 12 and 13 at the Pointe Mouillee State Game headquarters island, Huron River at Rockwood, east of I-75.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) - Work gets the attention this month Aries. You may be learning a new skill, or new way of doing the old job. You could be educating yourself on nutrition, health and safety. Recognize the opportunities all around you, especially for personal growth. Pay close attention to details and don't dwell on hurts and mistakes from the past. Your psychic ability is spontaneous and you've got an opportunity this month to use it as a tool.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) - Relationships with co-workers are very important now. If you are hostile, judgmental or difficult in any way, you could find yourself looking for a new place to work. People are very intolerant of any kind of surly attitudes or power struggles. Friends may be concerned about the way you take care of yourself (or don't, in some cases) and be just chock full of observations and advice. Don't be defensive.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21) - Pay close attention to your work and don't daydream or you could overlook

star sights

some very important details. Watch your words, too, because your mouth can lose control of itself and really get you in hot water. Love can get very complicated, but if you stick to the path of honesty and integrity, you can have whatever you want.

CANCER (June 22-July 22) - Look at what is blocking communications with you and those who support and love you. Those are the ones you desire to be close with and comfortable, and the blockage is easy to clear. Spiritual and ethical issues are in the spotlight. Changes are in full swing, and it's important to keep yourself grounded. Don't confuse old memory tapes with current events or you'll re-create the past for yourself. Your security will depend on how honest you are with yourself.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) - Ending an old cycle, wanting a real solid honest-to-goodness traditional relationship based on good values. You may be ready to release the past and start to really heal yourself. Career opportunities are starting to build up. You may see a professional contact grow into a personal one, which can then help you professionally. Business and pleasure are definitely mixed here. You need someone who believes in you in your life.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) - You may find that you get what you set out to do, but you may not have considered all the consequences of it. Now, if there isn't egg on your face, there's at least wonder in your heart whether this was such a great idea after all. But, what's done is done, and the ball is now in play. If you're feeling a sense of loss, make sure you accept responsibility for your actions and don't blame others. Remember this was what you wanted. Examine what it is you value and see how that value actually works for you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) - There's a big change in your work coming up, and it may be an emotional issue. If not on your part, then on the part of other people. Someone has worked very hard for a particular outcome. Now that it's coming about, it's too late to turn back now, and someone's not too happy about it. You're on a brand new direction toward the end of the month. New people, new plans, maybe even a new love in your life, or a total rebirth of a current relationship. Welcome and embrace the changes, you've needed this.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21) - Ending of lots of love connections, opening up new doors. Lots of shallow connections or a deep, intense one. If commitments are not your thing, you'll feel paranoid about others who sense your secretiveness and ask you about it. The best solution is open honesty. At least people won't doubt your sincerity that way. You'll be realizing an awful lot about yourself this month that others have seen all along both good points and bad. Honesty and integrity is what others will be considering when opportunities come along.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) - You could be considering moving or changing your security base. Home may not be the most fun place to be at times, or wherever you spend your time, so find a temporary nest to work in and rest and recuperate. The home should reflect you in some way. Your support team is there waiting for you to release. Once you've done the release, all the help in the world comes pouring in.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) - Psychic impressions are strong, and your ability to get through to others is great. Idealism and integrity are powerful tools, and there's only one way that will work - on the side of honesty. Your spiritual nature is opening up more and more creative avenues. Be careful of what you say at work. Words can be so hurtful and damaging that they can make the difference in whether you enjoy coming to work, or dread it. Changes are coming and you want to be relaxed and open to them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) - Money must be reviewed and re-evaluated. Decide what you want and start planning how to get your resources straightened around to accommodate those desires. Relationships show more affection, or they change to a new condition. You've got choices, and now you're ready to make them. Open up some of those options you hadn't considered before. This is a moneymaking time for you and others you're working with. Don't waste it!

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) - You're so sick of being "sick of it," and now you want to be free of it all. Let everyone else be as strange as they want to be and you get on with your own plans. They've made their choices, and you don't want what they've chosen. Let go of financial connections with those you want to be separate from. Love life can come to life in an exciting new direction with lots of love, affection and excitement all the way! Be clear what you want and express it!

Robichaud freshmen could be key to a title year

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

With only two regulars back from a team that won three of nine games a year ago, you wouldn't think that Robichaud would be thinking about titles in 1987.

But the Bulldogs and coach Bob Yauck are.

And they will be looking at one of the most unlikely sources to provide the manpower to make them contenders. There is an unusual amount of freshman talent at Robichaud this year.

"We could be contenders because

"The incoming freshman class is one of the best in a long time. We have some big kids, and some of them will be starting."

we have a lot of talent," Yauck said. "The incoming freshman class is one of the best in a long time. We have some big kids, and some of them will be starting. However, we are primarily a sophomore and junior club this year."

One of those freshmen, Tyrone Wheatley, a 6-1, 185-pound all-around athlete, is being looked at as the possible starter at quarterback. Yauck considered Wheatley as "one of the most talented since Mark Medlock."

"It is asking a lot of a freshman to step in as our starting quarterback, but he has all the tools," Yauck added.

If Wheatley has problems fitting the QB suit, then he can go with Gary Johnson, who has junior varsity experience.

The Bulldogs will have two solid runners in the backfield in James Gee, a 5-9, 155-pound sophomore, and Carl Brown, a 5-10, 170-pound junior. And, with these two ballcarriers, Yauck hopes to get the offensive punch the 1986 club lacked.

"The last two years we didn't have the quarterbacks or the offensive threat," Yauck stressed. "With these kids I believe we are going to get the offense that we haven't had."

Robichaud has the dubious honor of taking on defending Class C state champ, Country Day, for an opener. The two out-of-conference rivals will clash at 3:30 p.m. Friday, Sept. 4 on the Birmingham-based high school's gridiron.

"The game will tell us a lot about this team," Yauck pointed out. "Country Day has an excellent football program, and this will be a good test for us."

The two holdovers from last year's squad are Tyji Armstrong, a "blue chip" performer who is 6-5, 210-pounds. Armstrong is a threat anywhere on the field, and to better utilize his abilities, Yauck has moved Tyji from tailback to running back.

Ken Wood, a 5-8, 190-pound senior, is returning at center.

Tigers face tough grid schedule

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Belleville Tigers will be an improved club, but they face a tough schedule, starting with last year's state semifinalists, Westland John Glenn.

Over the last decade, Belleville has had problems winning football games in the Wolverine 'A' Conference.

And for three good reasons: Fordson. Trenton. And Wayne Memorial. The first two are considered traditional Class A state grid powerhouses. Both have reached the state playoffs in the past and Fordson has in its possession at least one state title and a couple of runnerup trophies.

But Belleville's destiny, now in the hands of sophomore head coach Dave McCarney whose club a year ago posted a 2-7 overall won-lost record, could change in 1987. There are 18 returning lettermen, eight of whom were starters, back in hopes of improving on that mark.

McCarney will be banking on "quickness" this year and key defensive personnel to help the Tigers in their bid for a better season.

"We have strength in the spots where we can stop the power plays, something we haven't had in the past," McCarney noted. "Last year, we gave up too many points the first three games of the season and it took us some time to recover."

Those first three games - Westland

John Glenn, Fordson, and Trenton - could again break or make the Tiger football machine. Glenn, last year's state semifinalists, has enough holdovers to make a run for it again this year, according to some prep grid experts. And the Westlanders are Belleville's host for the 1987 high school football opener, scheduled for 7:30 p.m. Friday, Sept. 4 at the Rocket stadium.

paredness and putting their cadre of 65 varsity candidates through two-a-day grueling practices.

With 65 candidates, McCarney also will have the advantage of platooning his men, a luxury that his predecessors didn't have.

If the Tigers are to improve, then McCarney must find a quarterback that can get the job done. He is looking

"We have strength in the spots where we can stop the power plays."

— Coach Dave McCarney

Then, McCarney and his Tigers return home on Sept. 11 for a 7:30 p.m. encounter with Fordson, the defending Wolverine 'A' Conference champ.

Then, at 7:30 p.m., Friday, Sept. 18, Trenton comes to town.

These are three excellent reasons why McCarney and his assistant coaches are speeding up their grid pre-at two players including Eric Schubert, last year's backup QB; and Terrance Smith, who has transferred in from Fort Worth, Texas. Smith has a good throwing arm.

"We won't make any decision on the starter until we scrimmage a few teams so we can then draw some conclusions," McCarney said.

The offensive backfield also will reflect experience (again, a first) thanks to the return of Blaine Armstrong (fullback) and J.P. Fallen (running-back). And a second transfer student, Dennis Tillman, out of Detroit Central, adds another dimension to the Tigers' scoring ability.

Others with experience include: Rod Schellenberger, a defensive back; John Barledge (center); Jeff Sykes (tackle); and Ray Lewis, (tight end). Lewis, 6-2, 195-pounds could be a serious all-conference candidate if he plays up to his potential.

The Tigers have an enviable situation at the split end spot where two of last year's part-time performers, Bill Seaman (6-1, 165) and John Richards (5-10, 140) are fighting it out with Garrett Clark (6-2, 150) and Kevin Hunter (6-1, 150) for the starting assignment.

Other returning letterwinners are David Livingston, a 6-1, 190-pound senior guard and, joining Livingston

The Patriots will go with the young and bold

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The young and the bold.

The two adjectives probably best describe Livonia Franklin's 1987 football team.

And Coach Armand Vigna's club also has to look forward to a very tough schedule.

"We're going to have to mature fast," said Vigna, whose Patriots are coming off of a 2-7 year - one of the worst, if not the worst - in Vigna's long tenure as head coach. He's been at the helm of the Pats' grid machine for the last 13 years, but is entering his 29th overall season as a football coach.

"We are young. We are inexperienced, but we will have better speed than we have had in the past couple of years."

Franklin launches the season a day later than most local teams. The Pats will meet Lansing Sexton at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, Sept. 5 on the home field.

In a nucleus of 15 letterwinners who are returning, Vigna has three starters back on offense and an equal number on defense.

The Franklin veterans include: J.J. Swindall, a tight end (6-3, 185); John Glava, tackle (6-1, 208); John Molovan, guard (6-0, 180), and center Wayne Everard, (6-0, 185) who started the last two games.

Swindall will also see duty as a free safety, and Glava will hold down an end spot while 5-11, 180-pound Jon Steiak is set to go at linebacker.

From there, Vigna will build.

He's looking at Craig Allard, a junior, who has had two successful years as quarterback with the freshmen and junior varsity teams. Allard's forte is running, and the option will be the meat-and-potato play for the Patriots.

In the meantime, a real battle is shaping up between four candidates for the tailback spot. Two juniors - Brian Drabicki and Chris Jaynes - are taking on seniors Tim Napier and Gary Hudgins for ball carrying rights.

There is also a three-way fight being waged between seniors Scotty Canfield, Steve Olsen and junior Greg Panzl for the fullback rights. The wide receivers who are looking good in practice are Mike Patzsch, Mickey Minard and Buff Whalen.

Two transfer students - Chris Miller (5-10, 165) from Royal Oak Dondero, and Dale Kendall, (6-1, 180) who earned his varsity stripe at Taylor Kennedy - should give the Patriots strength in the linebacking corps. Notables in the defensive backfield include Mike DeCarlo, a junior who is 5-10, 170-pounds, and Mike Wienczak, who is 6-0, 170.

Romulus begins uphill climb

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Don't be surprised if the Romulus Eagles put it all together in 1987.

With only three starters returning from a squad that lost six of its nine games a year ago, Romulus Coach Norb Glover and his staff find themselves with the unenviable task of rebuilding.

Translated, that means, the Eagles have a long climb ahead of them."

Romulus' problems are compounded by the fact that the Eagles will be facing a slate of new and tough opponents in the South Central Conference, a league they are unofficially affiliated with until the 1988 season when they become full-fledged members.

Although there are dark clouds above, on the ground Glover remains optimistic - but realistic. He offers this explanation:

"I am excited about this team because they are probably one of the most disciplined groups that I have ever had."

Glover launches his sixth season as head coach at 4 p.m., Friday, Sept. 4 at Taylor Truman. Truman is a former league foe and the two arch rivals know one another well.

"We have had some good games with them," Glover said, "but, obviously, because it's too early in the season, I don't know what he has."

The three veterans the Eagles will fly or fall with are 6-2, 190-pound senior defensive tackle, Tony Greca, an excellent All-Area candidate; Ed Miller, 5-11, 225-pound sophomore, also a defensive tackle, who could become one of the best in the school's history; and Paul Nowicki, 6-5, 265-pound junior, yes, another defensive tackle. And, yes, that's where the beef is.

The rebuilding blocks also include defensive end Maurice Bridges, a tough 6-3, 190-pound sophomore; Randy Rhoden, 6-0, 185-pound who started at the other end spot but was sidelined after three games with a broken hand.

The linebacking corps includes Chris Cox, probably one of the few players who will go both ways. Cox stands at 6-0 and is 190-pounds. Dysen Coleman, also a 6-footer who weighs in at 190, along with Erroll Trinity, a 5-11, 180-pound junior with junior varsity experience, provide Romulus with a pretty solid wall.

Note that most of the ink relates to the defense, and that's where Glover believes the 1987 Eagles will excel.

"We got a lot, and I mean a lot of work to do on offense," he admits. "You got to put points on the board to win in this game."

Who will be the Eagles' offensive field general? The quarterback? Raymond Gibson, a 6-0, 190-pound freshman? Derrick Anderson, a 5-7, 155-pound deceptive speedster? David Blandford, a senior who started two games - and won one - a year ago? Only time and a few scrimmages will answer the question.

Also in the offensive backfield, look for Brandon Redman and Coleman to share the duties and Trinity will probably be getting his share of carrying the ball at the running back slot.

There are at least five candidates for the one available split end post, and leading the job applicants are Brent Bonam, a 6-3, 175-pound grinder with sure hands, and Bobby Wade, a transfer from Ann Arbor. The Eagles will be counting on David Branch (6-0, 175) as the tight end; Ralph Farrell and Ben Frazier are staging a duel for one of the guard spots, while two brothers - Tony (5-11, 189) and Joe (6-0, 210) Callekio are fighting it out for the other position.

Because he will be starting a lot of sophomores and juniors, Glover believes that a .500 season would be adequate at this time.

But, don't be surprised if this isn't the year that everything comes together for the Eagles.

Wayne '87 model has plenty of speed

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

With their All-Area kicker Doug Quartuccio and running back Darren Tatum gone, Wayne Memorial has lost most of its offensive punch of a year ago.

And third year head coach Chuck Howton is the first to admit "that replacing Tatum and Quartuccio will be difficult."

"They were excellent football players and athletes," Howton said as he prepares his Zebras for the 7:30 p.m. opener Friday, Sept. 4 at Garden City.

But don't start shedding any tears for Wayne. Not yet. They will be in the title hunt, if Howton and his staff can put the pieces together. And here's why:

Howton is looking at Lou Davis, whom Wayne inherited from the Cherry Hill School District, to replace Tatum. He also has senior Mike Heard working out in the quarterback slot. Davis, Bob Dalton, and Tony Adams - all speedy ballcarriers - are 'looking good' - in practice, according to the Wayne coach.

Heard has an excellent pitching arm, so you can look for the Zebras to put the ball up in the air more than they have done in the past.

Howton and his staff of defensive coordinator Ron Julianne, James Giullini, and Jim Zoltowski, have the ranks of an undefeated (9-0) junior

"It's going to be a very interesting football season."

— Coach Chuck Howton

varsity club to tap from. From those ranks, Howton is looking at Bryan Tapp, a dynamic field general who also can throw, to become Heard's understudy.

Then, there's junior Tom Faison, who as a sophomore scored 24 TDs to lead the junior varsity club. Faison is a diminutive 5-6, 135-pounds. Faison and Tom Bishop, a rugged 6-1, 210 athlete figure in Howton's scheme of things as split ends.

There is definitely a lot of quickness in the 1987 grid model, plus a lot of muscle in the pits where, according to the knowledgeable, the games are won. The Zebra front line will include Larry Holloway, 6-1, 258-pounds and Jason Waugh, 6-2, 235 as tackles; presently working out at guard positions are Jay Muncy (5-11, 210), Julio DeSir (5-9, 170), Mike Mayes and Dan Mason.

In the past Wayne has thrived on defense. And the 1987 club could perpetuate that tradition. With 6-1, 258-pound Larry Holloway, and 6-2, 235-pound Jason Waugh, the Zebras have a pair of superb tackles. Backing the line are 6-3, 205-pound Ken Czajkowski, Bishop and Heard, while Ken Szmansky is one of the defensive ends. Monster back Craig Hatcher, who is a 5-8, 160-pound senior, and with Blair and Lou Davis in the secondary, Wayne could be a force to be reckoned with.

But, despite an overall improvement in their personnel, the Zebras will still have to contend with the recognized powers in their conference. And that means finding a way, somehow, of stopping perennial Wolverine 'A' Conference title-contender, Fordson, and always a challenge, Trenton.

"They (Fordson and Trenton) have a fine tradition when it comes to fielding football teams and I feel they will again be the teams to beat this year," Howton said. "But we will challenge them. I am certain of that. And I see Southgate, Belleville and Monroe right in the hunt."

"It is going to be an interesting season," Howton concluded.

Patriots

Franklin made history in 1975 when it captured the Class A state football championship, the first year the Michigan High School Athletic Association actually conducted state-wide competition for the title.

"We're not like looking to make history," Vigna said. "What we would like to do is to improve that 2-7 record."

Churchill could be 'Cinderella team'

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

There are some good football teams in the Western Lakes Conference.

And Coach Herb Osterland, who is preparing to send his Chargers into battle on Sept. 4 against Sterling Heights knows it.

"We have some good kids, but we lack the experience," Osterland pointed out, discussing the possibility that his Chargers finish atop of the conference hill. "I wouldn't want to put any pre-season pressure on them. They will have enough of that when the season gets underway."

How does the veteran Churchill coach view the conference title wars in 1987?

"I've got to believe that John Glenn is the favorite and Harrison (Farmington), because they have been there before, will do it if Glenn falters.

"But, look for Livonia Stevenson to be a darkhorse this year," Osterland continued. "They definitely are going to have a good year."

What about Churchill, coach?

"We've got some talent, but I don't believe we have the overall strength that some of the teams I have just mentioned have. We have a philosophy in these parts to 'play em one at a time'."

And first in line for Churchill is Sterling Heights. The two nonconference rivals have had some close games with Churchill coming out winners of 9-0 and 13-10 decisions.

Churchill had a varsity turnout of 40 players, but only six who helped the Chargers post a 6-3 won-lost record in 1986. Leading the veterans will be John Tracy, last year's all-division quarterback who has matured into a 6-1, 172-pound senior. His strong suit is his quickness, but, cautions Osterland, he can also throw. Then there is Kyle Percin, at 6-1, 180-pounds who, with Tracy will serve as co-captains. Scott Porter, elevated to varsity, status as a sophomore a year ago, is being tutored as the heir-apparent to Jim Naif's post at fullback. Naif, an unstoppable ballcarrier and outstanding linebacker, was an all-conference candidate who earned all-state recognition last season. For the record, Porter is 6-1, 205-pounds.

The strong-side defensive tackle, Mark Thurston, (5-11, 200) is another standout that the Chargers will be relying on a lot.

"Presently we have a nucleus of 28 juniors and a dozen seniors," Osterland said. "I believe we will be fairly competitive."

And that probably is the understatement of the pre-season forecasts.

Tigers

The tackles also look solid with sophomore Brian Gulliver, who checks in at 6-8, 218-pounds, and Anthony Richendollar, an unmovable 5-9, 251-pound standout from a family of outstanding athletes. Some other notables include: Eric Luke (6-2, 190) and Art Burke (5-10, 180) who are guards, and veteran center John Barledge, at 6-3, 193.

Defensively, McCarney is looking at Chad Newton (5-10, 172) as the nose man; Tony Dawson (6-0, 186) and Jeff Sykes (6-0, 200) at tackles, and Bill Ashley (6-5, 200), Brad Dawson (5-10, 180) and Charlie Dilts (5-11, 222) at the defensive end spots.

The linebacking roles will be left to John LeRoy (5-10, 165), Brian Hutchinson (5-10, 163), Brad Byrd (5-10, 200), Vince Sacco (6-1, 197) and in the defensive secondary look for Donell Thomas, Chico Crout, and Schellenbarger to hold down three of the four positions while Mike Gentry has the inside edge on that fourth position.

"I really don't know how long it is going to take to put this all together," said McCarney. "But, obviously, we have a tough road ahead of us."

With three of the toughest teams right at the top of the schedule, you can say that again, coach.

Robichaud

at the other guard spot will be 160-pound, 5'8" junior Tim Parker.

Eric Thomas and Chris Parker are fighting it out for the starting split end role, while a battle is going on between Carl Felman and Aaron Chaney to see who starts at tight end. Roderic James, 6-4, 215-pounds, and Mike Nolan, 5-10, 210-pounds, along with James Dixon, 6-1, 210-pounds, and Warner Smith, 6-0, 230-pounds, are being suited up for the tackle positions.

Lenell Brooks, whose quickness and strength would enable him to play just about anywhere, is definitely a player to keep your eyes on.

And the eyes will be on the Bulldogs this season. They will be out to redeem themselves for the dismal 3-6 record of a year ago.

Highland Park, the only Class A school in the "B" dominated Suburban Athletic Conference, is favored to unseat River Rouge on the title throne. But, Rouge, whom few expected to win the title a year ago, has a nucleus of veterans that may again surprise.

However, don't count the Bulldogs out.

Once they get a grab at the title, they are like "pit bulls."

Salem will return to title hunt in league

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

"We are going to be in the hunt. And anyone who takes us lightly is going to be surprised."

With that statement, Plymouth Salem Coach Tom Moshimer served notice to the Western Lakes Conference. The Rocks are back.

After a dismal (for the Rocks) 3-6 season in 1986, Moshimer and his staff believe the football talent that could restore Salem's respect in the tough Western Lakes Conference. He would have to stop the likes of Farmington Harrison, which has for the past five years been a state power, and Westland John Glenn, a state semifinalist a year ago.

Add to the two above mentioned teams the names of Livonia Stevenson, whom many believe is the heir-apparent to the Harrison conference throne, and Walled Lake Western, a team that will be fielding a veteran senior club, and Moshimer and his staff may have their job cut out for them.

But, seven offensive starters and a handful of defensive specialists may lift the Rocks to the top. Andy Gee is back at wide receiver and tight end Kevin Cusino has a lot of experience under his belts. Then, interior linemen Jay Blaylock, Jim Lamb, and Romolo Maura are definitely people to contend with. In the backfield, quarterback Steve Holt, now a senior, and running back Garrett Bowie will be tough to stop. Moshimer is also looking at Kurt Britnell and Ryan Johnson for the QB jobs.

Defensively, Moshimer has reliable personnel in Gee, who will team with Doug Prader at the cornerback position, and Curt Urban is ready to prove that he is among the best linebackers on the prep scene this year.

Moshimer is looking at four newcomers to fill the fullback's role, and "one step ahead of the others at this point" are Mike Boyd and John Blannon. To fill the holes on the line created by graduation, the Rocks are looking at Bill LaVeck, Brad Wright, and at the end slots - Mike Parks and Keith Smith.

Turning to defense, Matt Medtikhosh, Mike Jarvey and Jay Blaylock are three reliable linebackers, while Brad Wright and Keith Smith are working at the outside linebackers' slots. Up front are John Swisher and John Lazarowica. Look for Holt, Johnson and Brannon in the secondary.

And, look for Moshimer and the Rocks near the top of the pack - and not the middle of it - at the end of what promises to be a thrilling 1987 Western Lakes Conference season.

"We are going to be there, too," Moshimer vowed.

Hey, I believe. I believe.

Canton is heading down the road of victory

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

In one season, Coach Bob Khoenle accomplished more than his predecessors did in the past three.

Khoenle, whose 1986 Plymouth Canton High football team recorded three victories in nine starts (the previous two years the Chiefs had only won two games), believes that "it was a good first year."

"We felt that the kids' attitudes changed around here," Khoenle continued, "and that is helping to turn our program around."

Khoenle will begin his sophomore season as head coach 7:30 p.m. Saturday against Willow Run. (The game was originally scheduled as an away game but Willow Run officials say that their field isn't ready). Some 70 players, 40 of whom are seniors, turned out for the varsity squad and the Chiefs' coaching squad believes that there is enough talent to make this a banner year for Canton.

"But there are a lot of question marks and, right now, we are just trying to answer a few of them," Khoenle said.

Khoenle will again have the services of Neil Hubert, who started at quarterback for the last four games of the '86 campaign. Hubert has the experience and the credentials to get the job done. Another definite asset in the offensive backfield is Rog Tryce, a speedy and elusive running back who was named to the ANP All-Area cage team a year ago. Tryce is one of the tri-captains.

Others Khoenle and his staff are looking at for ballcarrying assignments are Ed Bartelli, Scott Swartzwelter, Joe Riggs, Wilt Watkins, Kevin Stackpoole, while Scott Browne, Brian Detrich and Joe Petr-ko are competing for the starting fullback job. Bartelli, Jeff Simmons and/or Mark Barrette could be the next spilt end, and battling it out for the tightend post is Steve Fleming, Sean Koteles, Bob Rodzik and Greg Wazniak.

There definitely isn't any manpower shortage at Canton this year. Muscular Jerry French, who stands 6-1 and is 265-pounds, has outstanding credentials for a lineman and Mike Kelly, a 5'11, 195-pound junior, will be in the midst of the line action, as well.

"We also hope to improve," Khoenle added.
